

PLAN DRIVES ON WARSAW AND CALAIS

MULTANEOUS MOVES MAY BE ATTEMPTED BY GERMANS, LONDON OBSERVERS CLAIM.

BIG GUNS SENT EAST

Siege Guns From Essen Reported Dispatched to German Front on The Buzza River in Poland.

London, June 26.—With breathless expectancy which seems to be a repeated pause, at the present moment on both battle fronts of the continent, the British public in awaiting the next move on the return chess.

It is conceded that this move Germany's and that it may be against either Warsaw, Paris or Calais.

Some German activity has been reported in the Argonne which may indicate a drive in the direction of Paris, but the closing of the Belgian frontier may mean the transfer of veterans from the eastern front for another attempt to break through to the English channel.

No great activity is to be noted along any of the minor fronts. The Italians seem to be engaged in consolidating their positions.

WAR HAS ITS EFFECT ON FRENCH HOLIDAY

Observance of July 14th in Paris Will Not Be Attended by Usual Military Display.

Paris, June 26.—Minister of War Millerand announced today that the observance of July 14, the French national holiday, commemorating the fall of the Bastille, will not be marked by a review at Long Camp of the troops of the Paris garrison, which hitherto has been an annual celebration.

MOBILIZATION OF ALL DOCTORS IN ENGLAND RUMORED IN LONDON

London, June 26.—A "mobilization" of all the doctors in England is being talked of here. The rumor of this has reached such a stage that officers of the Medical Council believe that some sort of an organization for private medical work along with the public health is at the present moment a matter of special importance.

The question of rearranging the work of the doctors to meet both the military and civil demands is admittedly a difficult one. Neither doctors nor patients are likely to be pleased with any possible method of dividing up private medical work along with the military perhaps be called "efficiency" lines.

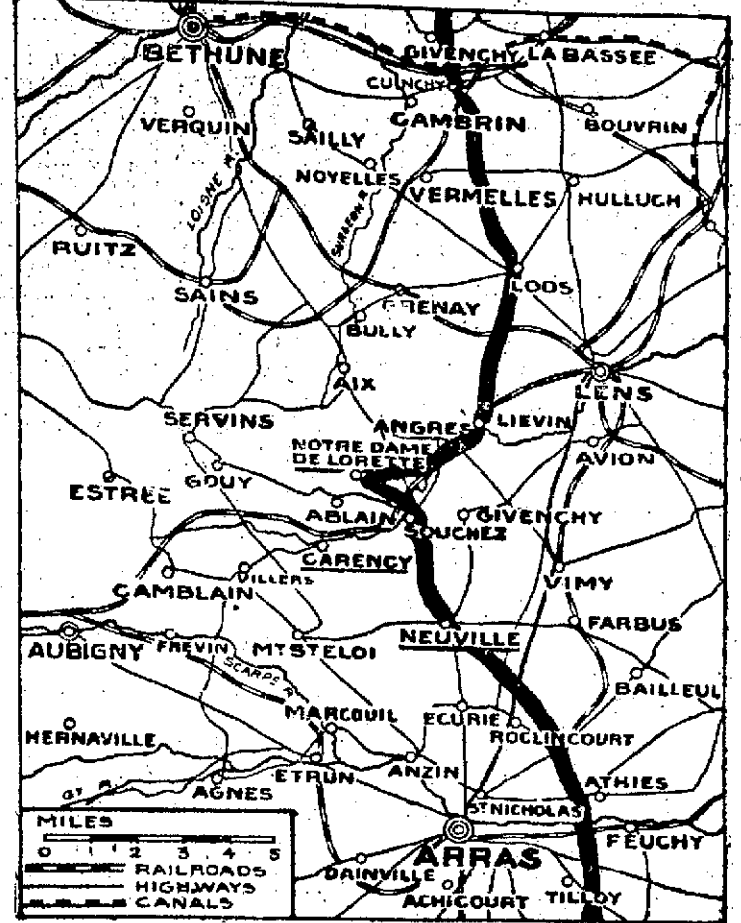

Many physicians, especially in the crowded parts of the cities, are called out by the military and probably in these cases no readjustment would be advisable, but there are large numbers of practitioners in the suburban and country districts who could be advantageously placed in sections where special need is felt. It may be possible to arrange for government compensation.

DECREE IS PASSED MAKING IT A FELONY TO TRADE WITH INDIANS

Panama, June 26.—In order that the rebellious Indians of the San Blas coast shall be made to recognize the authority of the Panama Government, President Porras proposes to prevent any of the outlaw districts from trading with outsiders. He has issued a decree which practically makes it a felony for anyone to trade with certain Indian villages. A heavy fine is imposed for the first offense while a fine and jail sentence is imposed for the second.

President Porras recently visited the San Blas coast for the purpose of insubordinating his scheme of government monopoly in the trade of that section of Panama and to insure the collection of import and export duties. Most of the Indian chiefs have recognized the overlordship of the president of Panama, but there are a number of them who persistently refuse to parley with the Great White Chief and declare their intention of having nothing to do with the government of Panama. These chiefs and their villages are to be isolated if the President's plan works.

FRENCH IN TREMENDOUS DRIVE SEEK TO PIERCE FOE'S LINES OF COMMUNICATION

Map shows where French are trying to capture the German lateral lines of communication about Arras and Lens in their steady forward drive in north of France.

WISCONSIN LEADING RANGING OF FOREST WITH AVIATOR SCOUT

Embryo Airman in Pine Stump District Gives Services to State Gratiis—Says Idea Excellent.

Madison, Wis., June 26.—Wisconsin is the first state in the union to appoint an aviator to test forest rangers. The commission as forest ranger to perform these duties has been issued by State Forester E. M. Griffith to L. A. Vilas, a relative of the late United States Senator William F. Vilas of Wisconsin.

Mr. Vilas asks no pay for his service, but he has agreed with the forestry department to make ascents morning and evening and survey the landscape for any outbreaks of fire in the northern country.

"It is generous of Mr. Vilas to offer these services to the state without charge," declared Mr. Griffith today. "Last Tuesday I made an ascent with Mr. Vilas and we detected a fire. By communicating with the rangers when he came down, we found that it was a settler doing some clearing. The hydroplane will reach the place of a fire in only a few minutes, where otherwise hours would be consumed."

Mr. Vilas will spend his summer at Mann's resort on Big Trout Lake. During the dry weather which follows in late July and early August he will probably make four ascents a day. Vilas recently discovered a fire thirty miles off and on investigation it was found that he had made an accurate estimate of the distance.

KAISER RECEIVES AIR SCOUT'S REPORT

Emperor William is here shown in his automobile receiving a report from one of the aerial officers in the eastern war zone, where he has taken command of his army in the final stage of the drive on Lemberg.

TROOPERS GUARDING STANTON DWELLING TO STAVE OFF RIOT

Militia Still Kept in Readiness To Offset Demonstrations of Angry Georgia Mob.

Atlanta, Ga., June 26.—Near-beer saloons were closed the entire night, watch of police was at the stations for extra duty and the guard of militia still surrounded Governor Stanton's home, in an effort of the authorities to forestall today and tonight demonstrations of protest against the governor's commutation of Leo M. Frank's death sentence. The term of Governor Stanton expired at noon and crowds were at the city for the inauguration of Nate Harris.

The business section of the city was patrolled by a double watch of police today and forty extra mounted men were sent to the capital. Otherwise to all outward appearances the city is normal.

U. S. AGENTS SEEK SERB RECRUITERS

Men Who Were Instrumental in Getting Natives to Start Home Sought by Federal Authorities.

Chicago, June 26.—Two men responsible for the recruiting work now going on in this country are being sought by the department of justice, according to Lucien C. Wheeler, assistant superintendent of investigation, who appeared today at the hearing of twenty-four Serbians, taken from a train here last night on charges of enlisting for service in the war in violation of American neutrality. The cases against the men will be continued until next Wednesday by United States Commissioner Mason, and they are held in $1,000 bail each.

BRITISH AVIATORS RUIN GERMAN DEPOT

Drop Bombs On Munition Depot and Kill Fifty Soldiers at Roulers, Belgium.

London, June 26.—Bombs dropped by British aviators near Roulers, Belgium, caused explosion of a large munition depot and also resulted in the killing of fifty German soldiers and ammunition trains, says a Central News dispatch from Rotterdam.

WELL KNOWN AUTHOR COMMITS SUICIDE

Reverend Frank Wescott Hangs Self On Bed Post in Hospital at Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, June 26.—Rev. Frank Wescott, 56, a well known author of Skaneateles, New York, was found dead today hanging from a bedpost at a local hospital where he had been under treatment for nervous disorder. It is believed he committed suicide during the night. He is a brother of Edward Noyes Wescott, also an author.

Reverend Wescott had for some time been assistant to Bishop Wm. Walter Webb of the Milwaukee Episcopal diocese.

BILL IS INTRODUCED IN SENATE TO MAKE ALGERIANS CITIZENS

Paris, June 26.—A bill has been introduced in the senate to confer citizenship upon all native Algerians who have served in the French army.

MEXICO CITY NEUTRALS TO SEE NO HARM OF BIG RACE

CARRANZA ASSURES UNITED STATES LIVES AND PROPERTY OF ALL WILL NOT SUFFER IN FIGHTING.

ZAPATA IN RESISTANCE

Opposing Greaser Chieftain Outside of Mexican Capital is Offering Strong Opposition.

Washington, June 26.—The state department advises today containing the hearing on the reported occupation of Mexico City by Carranza troops, announced General Carranza's guarantee for protection of non-combatants in case of fighting here. This summarizes its advice in the following statement:

"The department is in receipt of advice from Vera Cruz to the effect that General Carranza has given assurances that in event of fighting in the City of Mexico, the interest of non-combatants, either natives or foreigners, will be looked after."

"The department is in receipt of no definite report concerning the operations of General Carranza's forces outside of Mexico City, but it would appear from meager reports received that General Carranza is preparing to offer some resistance with his artillery forces."

"The opposing forces were reported in an artillery duel yesterday, with the Carranza forces being checked. Reports of continued unrest in Yucatan have caused the navy department to instruct Rear Admiral Caperton, with the cruiser Washington, to call at Progress on his way to Cape Haitian. The Washington will reach the Yucatan Peninsula tonight and after investigating the situation will proceed to Cape Haitian, probably reaching there about Tuesday."

General Villa, in a message dated yesterday at Aguas Calientes, and received at the Villa agency here, says:

"The report of the capture of Aguas Calientes by the Carranzanistas is completely absurd. Our operations are progressing favorably."

Tobari Bay, Mexico, by Radio, June 26.—Americans in the Yagui valley are well armed with rifles and adequate supply of ammunition and food. The Carranzanistas are completely cut off. They are being supplied by the Carranzanistas. Some Americans are arranged to hire other foreigners to assist in their defense.

COUNTY SCHOOL BILL HAS A SUBSTITUTE

New Amendment Would Create Board Under Authority of County Board Chairman.

Madison, Wis., June 26.—Still another bill on the county board of education has appeared in the senate. The senate committee on education has framed a substitute to the Burke bill abolishing the board. It embodies features of the Culbertson bill under which school districts would have supervisory teachers, and a bill framed by administration leaders, creating a committee on school districts, appointive by the chairman of the board.

The new bill provides for a committee on school districts composed of three members, with three-year terms, alternating annually, to receive compensation of $3 per day for not to exceed fifteen days each in any one year, and having power to create, dissolve or consolidate school districts, or alter district boundaries.

The bill fixes the salary of county superintendents at not less than $1,200 per year in counties with from 50 to 125 schools; at not less than $1,400 in counties having 125 to 200 schools; and not less than $1,600 in counties having over 200 schools. The specific salary to be fixed by the county board. The county superintendent must engage in no other business or profession where the salary exceeds $300 per year. In counties having over 50 schools a clerk is to be provided in the office of the county superintendent.

In counties having from 50 to 125 schools, the board, upon nomination of the county superintendent, is to appoint one supervisory teacher to act as a county superintendent in supervising the county schools, having over 125 schools two assistants are to be appointed. The salary of assistants is fixed at not less than $60 or more than $80 per month for not to exceed ten months in the year, and three years of successful teaching experience is a requisite. Their salary and expenses are to be paid by the state but the common school fund when the state superintendent decides after actual inspection that their work has been efficiently done.

The bill if enacted would call for an appropriation of about $100,000 annually out of the school fund before apportioned among the various districts. The total increase for the counties due to the increased salaries of county superintendents would be approximately $25,000.

FILE NOTICE OF BIG INCREASE IN STOCK

Madison, June 26.—The Milwaukee County Abstract Company has filed a notice of an increase in its capital stock from $60,000 to $200,000. Julius E. Roehr is president.

FORMER PROBATE COURT CLERK HELD ON CHARGE OF EMBEZZLING $70,000

OHAWA, Ill., June 26.—Jacob M. St. Claire of Streator, former clerk of probate court, was indicted here today on the charge of embezzling $70,000 of county funds.

EXTRA! DE RESTA IS THE WINNER OF BIG RACE

4 P. M.

DE RESTA TRAVELS FASTER THAN WORLD'S RECORD IN EARLY PERIODS OF CLASSIC MOTOR MARATHON

Chicago, June 26, 3:30 P. M.—At Mixed up Earl in Race—Indianapolis Records Smashed by Resta Who Still Retains Lead.

CHICAGO, 3:35—DE RESTA WON THE RACE. PORPORATO SECOND.

The 400 mile mark De Resta lead the field by five miles. His time for this distance was 44:49, 98:03 miles per hour. Porporato and Grant followed in second and third positions.

Chicago, June 26.—The timers got mixed up in the first lap of the 500 mile automobile derby with which Chicago's speedway was dedicated today and the fifty thousand spectators were left to wonder who was leading while the timers were trying to extricate themselves.

A new competitors speedway record for 100 miles, it was announced, was made by E. Cooper at the rate of 104 miles an hour, or 11 miles faster than the previous record held by De Palma. Cooper was in the lead at 100 miles. At noon it was stated the timers had adjusted their figures.

At 120 miles Cooper still lead, followed by Resta, Porporato and Van Raalte.

At 140 miles they held the same positions. Resta made 160 miles in 1:15:44, a world's record. His speed was 100 miles an hour more than the previous record made by De Palma at Indianapolis. Automobile men had predicted that the race will shatter every competitive speed record in the world.

At 260 miles the leaders were Resta with a time of 2:40:01, followed closely by Porporato and Grant. The leaders were said to be 100 miles ahead of the field at this time.

At 300 miles the first six drivers were Resta, Grant, E. Cooper, Porporato, Rickenbacker, Anderson. The time was not announced. Resta's time for 300 miles was 3:15:14. This compares with 3:19:33 which De Palma required to make 300 miles at Indianapolis.

Big Crowds at Track. Thousands of people gathered in early hour today were on their way to the new two mile automobile speedway advertised as the fastest in the world. At ten o'clock the first hundred mile derby participated in by twenty one of the best known drivers in the country.

Twenty years ago a so-called "hottest" race was driven by Charles Duryea of Springfield, Mass., plowed through snow and slush on the road between Chicago and Evanston and won the first automobile race ever held in this country. His time for the forty mile route laid was at the rate of 7.5 miles an hour. Today a generation later, the finest creations of engineers of three countries were hand to hand in a battle for $54,000 in prize money and except to go twelve times as fast as Duryea did as a pioneer.

The drivers have two five mile "hot" races at first. Resta, driven by Charles Duryea of Springfield, Mass., plowed through snow and slush on the road between Chicago and Evanston and won the first automobile race ever held in this country. His time for the forty mile route laid was at the rate of 7.5 miles an hour. Today a generation later, the finest creations of engineers of three countries were hand to hand in a battle for $54,000 in prize money and except to go twelve times as fast as Duryea did as a pioneer.

Predictions were common that the De Palma record would be broken. The citizens of Chicago, enthusiastic declare the winners would have to average 97 miles, but the more conservative question whether Brookland record would be beaten.

VETERAN JOURNALIST IS DEAD IN LONDON

London, June 26.—Alexander Kenely, editor of the London Daily Mirror, died today at the age of sixty-one.

Mr. Kenely, who was born in Sussex, England, devoted all his life to journalism. He was the managing editor of the New York Herald in 1882 and represented that paper at Rear Admiral Peary's first expedition. He became a member of the New York World staff in 1891, and was its correspondent with the American fleet in the Spanish war. Mr. Kenely began newspaper work in London as news editor of the Daily Express in 1911.

Three years later he went with the Daily Mirror. Under the non de plume of Montague Keronson, he wrote, "The Propagandist's Yank."

ERECT MONUMENT OVER MRS. EDDY

Boston, June 26.—Announcement of the completion of the plans for a memorial monument to be erected at the grave of Mrs. Mary Baker C. Eddy, founder of the Christian Science church, in Mount Auburn cemetery, Cambridge, was made today. The memorial is designed by Edgerton Swartwout of New York, and will consist of a circular open colonnade of eight columns resting on a base of three steps and surrounded on the front by a circular platform from which a double flight of steps will lead to the edge of a small lake. The material is of white granite with inscriptions in white bronze. $100,000 has been raised for the monument.

APPLY STEMPER BILL TO MILWAUKEE ONLY IS PHILIPP'S DEMAND

Governor Will Veto Bill Unless so Changed as Not to Modify The Baker Law.

Madison, Wis., June 26.—Following a largely attended hearing yesterday in the executive offices, when both sides presented arguments on the stemper bill of license in 1913, Governor Philipp announced that he would veto the bill if it is not amended to apply only to the city of Milwaukee. Governor Philipp made the following statement:

"I shall decline to sign the so-called Stemper bill in its present form. The only condition upon which I will sign it is that it shall be amended so as to apply only to the city of Milwaukee. I am guided in this by the fact that the Baker law has become the settled policy of the state after eight years, and there is no sentiment so far as I know for its repeal or its general modification. I would suggest to the friends of the bill that they recall it to the assembly for the purpose of amendment."

"I would suggest that the bill be so amended that whenever the city wishes to close an undesirable saloon it may substitute one that operated under a license in 1913. The bill must, however, provide that the chief of police shall be the judge of the character of the saloon as well as the one to take its place."

"I believe it to be the sentiment of the people of Wisconsin that there should be fewer and better saloons. I heartily concur in this view."

FEDERAL PRISONERS RUN BIG CHANCE TO FLEE LEAVENWORTH

Prisoners: Williams and McCord Escape From Coal Mine After Perilous Climb.

Leavenworth, Kan., June 26.—Homer McCord, the so-called "bridge" kidnapper, and Frank Williams, convicted in state prison at Lansing, escaped from the prison coal mine early today by a perilous eight hundred foot climb up a perpendicular shaft.

McCord was serving a sentence of five years for white slave charges, which grew out of his sensational flight from Leavenworth in the evening of July 24, 1913, with Mrs. Harvey Dean, a sixteen-year-old bride.

Williams and McCord, with a number of others, were lowered into the mine last night to replace decayed timber. Early after midnight, the mine was thrown into darkness. An examination revealed that the electric wires had been cut and telephone communications severed. When the pairs were made, inspection of the mine revealed Williams and McCord were gone. Williams was serving a sentence for robbery.

GERMAN AMERICANS TO FIGHT ENGLISH PREJUDICE IN U. S.

President German American Alliance of Wisconsin Tells Germans to Fight Prejudice.

Madison, June 26.—A demand that German Americans stand strongly against attempts to prejudice American public against the German government in the present struggle was voiced by President Leo Stearn of the German-American Alliance of Wisconsin in his address of the opening meeting of the annual convention here today.

"The German-Americans have been attacked because they are demanding true neutrality and opposing that part of the English press taking sides with the allies," said Mr. Stearn. "It has been demonstrated in a startling manner that English thoughts and influence are carrying altogether too much weight in the United States at this time. The citizens of Germany, dependent in this country consider it their duty to work for the true independence and neutrality through political principles and action has opposed this prejudice influence."

"U. S. CANNOT GRASP WAR HORRORS," SAYS GIRL FROM FRONT

Miss Jean Finley.

"It is almost impossible for Americans to picture the real horrors and atrocities of the war," says Miss Jean Finley, Scotch girl war correspondent in Belgium, who has just reached this country. "It is very hard to preserve strict individual neutrality when viewing this great conflict."

SOCIALISTS CRY "PEACE" IN GERMANY

SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC PARTY OF EMPIRE IN STRENUOUS MOVE TO CEASE HOSTILITIES WITH WORLD.

IN HUMANITY'S NAME

Making Striking Appeal to All Classes Using Newspaper Space Freely to Further Cause.

Berlin, June 26.—The board of directors or managing committee of the social democratic party in Germany has caused to be published in the Vorwarts a full page appeal for peace. This interesting document calls for a peace under certain circumstances which will make possible friendships with neighboring nations and sets forth most clearly opposition of the party to territorial conquests and annexation. The people want peace, it declares, and the government is called upon in the name of humanity to make known its readiness to enter peace negotiations.

The appeal is published under the heading "social democracy and peace." It begins with reference to the fact that the socialists foresaw the coming of the war. They worked vainly for an international understanding, but when war did come, they placed themselves at the disposal of the fatherland. It then refers to the declaration of the party made in the Reichstag, August 4, 1914, which said:

"We demand as soon as safety has been secured and our opponents are inclined to peace, that war be brought to an end through a peace which will make possible the friendship with neighboring nations."

The appeal closes with these words: "The managing committee (Vorstand) of the social democratic party always has been and is now again, in the name of humanity, and in the name of the German people, protesting against every effort and every proclamation of the peace which is a negation of foreign territory and appropriation of other nations' efforts and proclamations which have become public in Germany particularly through the demands of great economic associations as well as through speeches of leading socialist politicians."

"Even the recital of such efforts saws further the desire that peace which is warmly desired by the whole nation. The people want peace. If this war is not to draw itself out needlessly to endure until the full exhaustion of its resources, to one of the participating powers must offer the hand of peace."

"Germany, who attacked by greatly superior forces, has thus far victoriously defended herself against all enemies brought to her, starvation plan to naught and demonstrated that she is unconquerable, should take the first step to bring about peace."

"In the name of humanity and culture and supported by the favorable situation brought about by the bravery of our comrades in arms, we demand of the government that it make known its readiness to enter peace negotiations in order to put an end to this conflict."

"We expect our socialist comrades in other belligerent lands to make their influence on their governments in this same sense."

LONDON'S NEWEST RAILWAY STATIONS STAFFED BY WOMEN

London, June 26.—The newest of London's six hundred railway stations, which has just opened its doors in the Midland-vale section of the city, is staffed entirely by women, from station-masters to porters.

COALITION MOVEMENT GROWS IN AUSTRALIA TO PREVENT POLITICS

Melbourne, Australia, June 26.—The movement for a coalition government for the Commonwealth of Australia until the end of the war appears to be growing in strength.

Both the Labor (Socialist) and the Argus (Liberal) urge the gravity of the situation and demand a real sinking of party politics in the national arena.

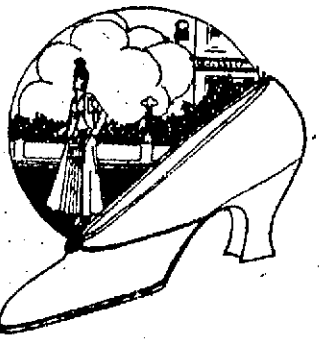

CONFLICT HAS BROUGHT ABOUT A TRAMPLES ERA TO ENGLISH ISLES

London, June 26.—The war has brought about what might be described as a trample era to England. There is not a workhouse in the United Kingdom that has not reported a great decrease in the number of vagrants during the past few months. Those who still use the "casual wards" are men of sixty years or over. Officials say there are practically no young or middle-aged vagrants left.

Meeting the Consumer

The nearer the manufacturer gets to the consumer the better for both. They must meet at the counter of the dealer for the retailer supplies a necessary link—Service. Newspaper advertising is the direct method of bringing the desired union. Dealer and consumer read the daily newspaper. They are influenced by the advertising—once to buy the goods, the other to sell goods. Manufacturers who want to know more about newspapers are invited to address the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York.

Women's Pumps

Baby Doll models $2.00 and $2.50.

Cross Strap Pumps, $2.50, $3.00 and $3.50.

In all leathers, also in white and black effects.

White Pumps, for summer wear, $1.25 to $2.50.

D.J. LUBY & CO.
HOWARD'S

Dry Goods. Milwaukee St.

"THE BEST FOR THE LEAST"

DOUBLE PUNCHES ON OUR PROFIT SHARING COUPON
TICKET TILL JULY 3rd.

Our Ribbon values are exceptional.

Black and Colored Velvet Ribbons, 15¢, 20¢, 25¢.

Black Velvet Ribbons, all widths, 10¢ to 85¢.

Taffeta Ribbons, 10¢, 12¢, 15¢.

Fancy Ribbon, 19¢, 25¢,
50¢.

ONE PRICE CASH STORE.

22 S. River St.

THE BARGAIN FINDERS

We find ourselves long on Youth's Suits for the little gentlemen, and if your boy now needs or will need a suit

COME HERE!
Saturday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Overstocked and crowded for room means a saving to you.

Euy Values—NOT RENT.

Ask about our profit-sharing plan.

J. H. BURNS CO.

HOTEL ARRIVALS.

Grand Hotel—A. W. Heigert, C. B.
Yocum, H. D. Camm, W. J. Hadley,
H. B. Robinson, W. J. Reilly, R.
G. King, G. H. Miller, George E.
Wright, D. C. Pence, W. M. Bailey,
W. E. Williams, Milwaukee; W. E.
Barnes, E. A. Fredrickson, Chas. Poyton, C. W. Greer, W. E. Larson, Evans, A. W. Hickman, Chas. E. Kienner, Madison; Oscar Johnson, H. T.
Ramey, Joe Holton, Stoughton; T. O.
Yates, Waukesha; J. J. Tschudy, Monroe; J. H. Schmetz, Horton; H. C.
Howe, Oconomowoc; J. A. Hanley, Racine; J. E. Coffland, Richland Center; Chas. Snyder and wife, Chas. Nye and wife, Beloit; J. F. Wilson, Darlington; Tillie Grimes, C. M. Jefferson,
F. E. Sweeney, Whitewater; Donald Lyle, Fox Lake.

Myers Hotel—Frank Miles, E. E.
Wagner, R. C. Wiege, C. B. Palmer,
J. B. Warfield, M. B. Bizer, M. Forten,
Milwaukee; S. Farlingwell, A.
Smith, A. U. Hickman, H. L. Gostler, Madison; F. L. Rucher, Jefferson; Arthur Sent, J. C. Tillbrand, Beloit; Sylvanus Alnes, G. C. Martindale, Stoughton; C. J. Harney, Screamore; J. B.
Aschmann, Fond du Lac; Joseph Tynell, George C. Crane, H. P. Mitroslon, Antigo; George A. Jagerston, Neenah;
A. H. Hamilton and party, Delavan; Mrs.
G. W. Buffles, Clinton; P. M. Bled, Tomah; Mrs. F. N. Coon, Miss Helen Coon, F. A. Young and wife and two children, Edgerton.

MONTEREY STARS TRIM SECOND WARD SCRUBS

By a score of ten to eight, in a tight game, the Monterey Stars trimmed the Second Ward Scrubs at baseball at the fair grounds.
Charles Black and George Cassidy did stellar hurling for the visitors, while Ray Lentz did the catching. Ploegert and Townsend formed the battery for the losers.

MADE LONG TRIP TO APPREHEND MAN CHARGED WITH FORGERY.

Henry H. Robertson is confined in the county jail awaiting trial for forgery, being brought here from Be-loft yesterday. Robertson is said to have surrendered voluntarily at Memphis, Tenn., where a Lane City officer secured him. His trial is scheduled for July 1.

Licensed to Wed: The following have been issued marriage licenses:
John A. Olson of Avon and Anna Pe-tergill of Spring Valley; Tony Sotien and Mariona Tarnidali, both of Be-loft; Harley C. Wolfson of Johnstown and Mae O. Anderson of Harmony; George Monat of Chippewa and Nora Lamb of Evansville; Hugh C. Squires of Elkhorn and Elizabeth Heiler of Janesville.

Don't Visit the California Expositions

Without a supply of Allen's Foot-Ease, the antiseptic powder to be shaken into the shoes, or directed in the foot, the Standard Remedy for the feet for 25 years, it gives instant relief to tired, aching feet and prevents swollen, hot feet. One lady writes: "I enjoyed every minute of my stay at the Expositions, thanks to Allen's Foot-Ease in my shoes." Get it today.

HOPES TO ORGANIZE VOLUNTEERS HERE

Captain M. Griffiths of Madison Plans to Interest Janesville People in Religious Society.

Captain M. Griffiths of Madison, in charge of the Volunteers of America at the Capital city, was in Janesville today on a prospecting trip to determine whether there is a field here for the organization of the Volunteers society. The purpose of the Volunteers who are headed by Mrs. Ballington and Maud Ballington Booth is religious and charitable and their efforts throughout the nation have been most successful in receiving the favorment of all churches as well as business and professional men.

In case Capt Griffiths finds enough enthusiasm in the movement in Janesville, he expects to organize a Volunteer society and financial committee of business men, secure a head quarters and meeting place and place a capable man in charge. Meetings are held every night in addition to the relief work and other home missionary activities.

"I doubt very much whether the people of Madison would listen to my talk," said Capt Griffiths, "but I think I would take charge of the local Volunteer society, providing one is organized. I have been there for eleven years and have received most loyal and enthusiastic support. Madison and Milwaukee are the only Wisconsin cities that have Volunteer societies and it is our purpose to branch out to some of the other towns. I believe that Janesville offers a good field."

Captain Griffiths called on Secretary McDowell of the Commercial club, who promised to bring the matter before the directors at their weekly meeting on Monday. He also talked over his plans with Reverend Henry Willmann and other members of the Associated Churches.

Captain Griffiths explained that the society owned $71,000 worth of property in Madison, including their own barracks and a girls' home. In case a society is organized here, he would purchase a headquarters at the earliest possible time.

"We believe in doing, not so much talking," Captain Griffiths explained.
"I myself am not a good platform speaker, but I find a great deal to be done quietly without any clamor of publicity."

The time to cure a cold is when it is first taken. Get a bottle of "Allen's Cough Syrup" today and take a few doses promptly and notice how quickly relief comes. Sold in every drug store. Don't accept a substitute.

MACHINE CO. PICNIC AT SPRINGS TODAY

Hundreds Leave For Park This Morning—Games and Baseball Games
On Sport Schedule.

Employees of the Janesville Machine company, their families and friends enjoyed today the seventeenth annual outing of the company. The picnic was held at Crystal Springs park up the river.

Previous to the departure of the first steamer at 9:30 o'clock, the Bower City band which had been hired for the occasion gave a series of concerts on down town street corners.
Rivers launch, row-boats, canoes and the steamers throughout the morning and well into the afternoon carried load after load of picnickers to the grounds. Concerts by the band and dancing in the pavilion attracted greatly.

A program of races and other feature events had been arranged for young and old. The prevalent warm weather has brought the river water to a degree of warmth to permit swimming and large numbers of "water-dogs" found pleasure in their first "duck-off" of the season.

SIX VARSITY CHAMPS IN CHICAGO TRYOUTS

Wisconsin Men Training for Elimination Trials For Big Athletic Meet at Frisco.

(Special to the Gazette.)
Madison, Wis., June 26.—Archie
Mucks, Dow Hays, Ed Casey, Ray Williams, Al Booth and "Red" Casey, prominent point-winners on the Wisconsin championship track team this year, will enter the elimination trials held at Chicago to determine the personnel of the western team which will enter the big Pacific coast meetings in August. Harvey Williams and Casey are training daily at Camp Randall near Madison, where competition in the weights from Gauley of Stanford and Whitney of Dartmouth. Mucks is expected to win first place in the discus event in both meets. Men winning places at Chicago will be given $200 expense money for the trip to the coast.

FAIR ASSOCIATION BUSY MAKING ARRANGEMENTS FOR JANESVILLE FAIR

Bids were let for the new ticket house at the fair grounds last Thursday evening at the meeting of the directors of the fair association. There is still a controversy between two contractors as to who will make the lowest bid on some of the minor details.

The new fence at the grounds is being rushed to completion. A Ford automobile unmeaningly started by some reckless boy, during the baseball game at the fair grounds last Wednesday, tore a large hole in the barbed wire fence and the directors have taken advantage of the opportunity to build an entire new fence.
Arrangements are also being made for bands to furnish music during fair days. The directors state that there will be a different band every day and that they will consist of the best in this section of the state. George Sayre of Milton is trying hard to complete arrangements for the firemen's band to play at the fair for a day.
Many other applications have been received from various bands of the state and this matter will be settled as soon as possible.

The authorities at the grounds have been very much annoyed of late by boys climbing onto the roof of the grandstand. In an effort to keep them out from looks were placed on the trap doors leading to the roof, but these were removed and the youngsters continued to get up onto the roof.
Secretary Nowlan stated today that the next boys who are caught in this act are to be prosecuted, for not only do the endangers their lives, but place the association in a light of liability, but large holes are torn in the paper roof, causing it to leak.

In the Churches

Carroll Methodist Church.—Rev. T.
D. Williams, minister.
9:45.—Class meeting. H. F. Nott, leader.
10:30.—Sermon by pastor: "What Could God Do More for His Vinyard?" Music by chorus choir.
Sunday school: 11:45.
Epworth League: 6:30. W. I.
Rothermel, leader. Reports of delegates to district convention.
7:30.—Union service Baptist church.
Prayer meeting Thursday: 7:30
p. m.

Presbyterian Church.—Located on North Jackson at corner of Wall street. George Edwin Parlow, pastor.
9:45.—Sabbath Bible school.
11:45.—Morning worship.
Sermon by pastor: "An Abiding Presence."
6:45.—Young People's Society Christian Endeavor. Topic: "Song and its Meaning."
No service in the church Sunday evening. We will unite with the Battist, Congregational and M. E. churches in a union meeting. Service will be held in the Baptist church.
Rev. R. M. Vaughn to speak.
Thursday, 7:45.—Church prayer meeting.

Congregational Church.—Rev. Chas.
E. Ewing, pastor.
10:30.—Morning worship. Sermon by Rev. E. C. Ewing, father of the pastor. Subject: "The Works and the Word." Kindergarten for small children of the congregation.
12:00.—Sunday school. Classes for all old and young.
7:30 p. m.—Union service at Baptist church. Rev. Richard M. Vaughn, preacher.
Thursday, 7:30 p. m.—Mid-week meeting, conducted by Rev. E. C. Ewing.
Subject: "Religious Teachings of Independence Day."
Friday, 10:00 a. m.—Sunday school picnic.

First Baptist Church.—Located on the corner of Jackson and Pleasant streets. Rev. Joseph Chalmers Hazen, pastor.
Sunday school: 9:45. John C.
Hauchet, superintendent. Music by the school orchestra. A class for everyone.
Sunday morning worship: 10:55.
Sermon by Rev. Richard M. Vaughn.
Young People's Society: 6:30.
Topic: "Song and its Meaning." Leaders, Miss Bowman.
Union evening service of the four central churches: 7:30. Sermon by Rev. Richard M. Vaughn. A cordial invitation to everyone.
Prayer meeting Thursday evening.

First Christian Church.—Corner
Madison and Academy streets.
Clark Walker, Cummings, minister.
337 North Terrace.
Bible school: 10:00 a. m. Frank Sadler, superintendent.
Communion and sermon: 11:00
a. m.
Evening worship: 7:30 p. m.
Prayer meeting Thursday: 7:00
p. m.

Members of the church are asked to remember the prayer hour Sunday evening at 6:30 at the church.
"Making Our Nation Count for God" is the morning sermon subject. "God's Call to All Christians," that of the evening.
Union evening service of the four central churches: 7:30. Sermon by
Rev. Richard M. Vaughn. A cordial invitation to everyone.
C. L. Baldrige will lead the prayer meeting.

Trinity Episcopal Church.—Rev.
Henry Willmann, rector.
The fourth Sunday after Trinity.
Holy communion: 7:30 a. m.
Sunday school: 9:30 a. m.
Morning service and sermon: 10:30
a. m.
Young people's meeting: 6:30 p. m.
Evening prayer: 7:30 p. m.

Christ Episcopal Church.—The Rev.
John McKinney, A. M., rector.
The fourth Sunday after Trinity.
Holy communion: 8:00 a. m.
Morning prayer and sermon: 10:30
a. m.
Sunday school: 12 m.
Evening prayer: 4:30 p. m.
Tuesday—St. Peter the Apostle.
Holy communion: 8:30 a. m.
Tuesday—Meeting of Christ church guild in parish house at 2:00 p. m.

Norwegian Lutheran Church.—
Corner West Bluff and Madison streets.
Services in Norwegian: 10:30 a. m.
Evening services in English: 7:30
p. m.
Sunday school: 9:30 a. m.
Bible class: 6:30 p. m.
Young People's Society meets
Thursday: 8:00 p. m.
T. C. Thorson, pastor.

Christian Science Church.—
First Church of Christ, Scientist.
Church edifice, corner Pleasant and South High streets.
Services:
Sunday: 10:30 a. m.
Sunday school: 12 m.
Wednesday: 7:45 p. m.
Subject of lesson, sermon Sunday:
"Christian Science." Reading room, rear of church, open daily except Sunday and holidays, from 2 to 6
p. m.

St. Patrick's Church.—Catholic church.—Corner Cherry and Holmes streets. Dean E. E. Reilly, pastor.
Rev. Wm. Mahoney, assistant pastor.
Residence 1215 Cherry street.
First mass: 7:30 a. m. second mass: 9:00 a. m. last mass, 10:30 a. m.; vespers: 7:30 p. m.

St. Mary's Church.—Catholic church.
First mass: 8:30 a. m.; second mass,
10:30 a. m.; vespers: 7:30 p. m.
Rev. Wm. Goebel, pastor.

Flight of the Fly.
It has been observed that a house fly can mount almost directly upward to a height of 45 feet or more. The time of day appears to influence the dispersal of flies, as, apparently, when set free in the afternoon they do not scatter so well as when liberated in the morning.

If you have any article which you wish to sell let the public know it through a classified ad.

BASE BALL SUNDAY
at the Fair Grounds starting promptly at 3 P. M.

CARDINALS vs.
ROCKFORD MAROONS

Ladies Free. Music Admission, 25c.

SHADE DECLINE IN HOG PRICES TODAY

Trading This Morning Is Slow With
Bulk of Sales at $7.50 to $7.80.
Cattle Are Steady.

(By Associated Press.)
Chicago, June 26.—Hogs were a shade lower than Friday, with bulk of sales ranging from $7.60 to $7.80. Receipts were estimated at 10,000. Sheep and cattle were in steady demand.
Following is the day's price list:
Cattle—Receipts: 2,000; market steady; native steers 6.25@9.60; western steers 7.00@9.20; cows and heifers 3.25@9.40; calves 7.00@10.00.
Hogs—Receipts: 10,000; average; slow under yesterday's; market light 7.55@7.90; mixed 7.45@7.87;
heavy 7.15@7.75; rough 7.15@7.30;
pigs 6.25@7.00; bulk of sales 7.60@ 7.80.

Sheep—Receipts 6,000; market steady; native 5.50@6.40; lambs, native 6.75@9.25; springs 8.75@10.25.
Eggs—Unchanged; receipts 19,800 cases.
Potatoes—Higher; receipts, old, 10 cars, new 30 cars; Mich. and Wis. white 18@25; Ark. and Okla. Triple 55@65; Virginia covers 1.60 @1.90.

Poultry—Alive, lower; fowls 14@
14 1/2; springs, 20@23.

Wheat—No. 2 Hard, normal,
12 1/2@12 3/4; No. 2 Hard, 12 1/2@12 3/4;
No. 2 Yellow, 12 1/2@12 3/4;
No. 3 Yellow, normal,
12 1/2@12 3/4; No. 3 White, 12 1/2@12 3/4;
Oats—No. 2, 12 1/2@12 3/4;
Timothy—5.50@5.75;
Clover—3.50@3.75;
Pork—$16.55;
Lard—$9.10;
Wheat—No. 2 Hard, 12 1/2@12 3/4;
No. 2 Yellow, 12 1/2@12 3/4;
No. 3 Yellow, normal,
12 1/2@12 3/4; No. 3 White, 12 1/2@12 3/4;
Oats—No. 2, 12 1/2@12 3/4;
Timothy—5.50@5.75;
Clover—3.50@3.75;
Pork—$16.55;
Lard—$9.10;

Chicago, June 26.—Yesterday's cattle trade closed firm, with the week's average price of beef steers $9.15 above the previous week and the highest in eight months.
The week's average price of hogs at $7.70 was the highest since first week of last October $1.10 above the week in February and 60c below year ago.

After an early advance of 10c yesterday, the market closed weak. The best sold at $7.85 and big groves, 23c @25c lbs., cost $7.65@7.75.
There was another 15c@25c upturn in sheep and lamb values. Best springs sold at $19.00, 15c above last week's closing quotations.
Receipts for today are estimated at 200 cattle, 12,000 hogs and 3,000 sheep, against 103 cattle, 9,738 hogs and 3,141 sheep corresponding Saturday a year ago.

Average price of hogs at Chicago was $7.74, against $7.69 Thursday, $.52 a week ago, $.82 a year ago, $.52 a year ago and $.49 three years ago.

Few Cattle on Sale.
A part of the 1,000 cattle received yesterday were assigned direct to slaughter. Hardly enough were on sale to establish quotations. The market was stronger than Thursday's close.
Calves gained 10c@15c and butcher stock sold well. Quotations:
Cattle to fancy steers... $8.80@9.60
Poor to good steers... 7.10@7.75
Yearlings, fair to fancy... 8.10@9.50
Fat cows and heifers... 5.90@9.35
Canning cows and heifers 3.25@5.75
Native bulls and stags... 5.40@8.00
Poor to good calves... 7.00@10.25

Liberal Hog Receipts.
Top hogs made $7.95 yesterday, or back to high day of the year. The average price stood 42c above Tuesday's close. The price of the lot middle of April. Trade started in very strong, but finished weak. Receipts at 23,000, including 3,200 direct to Swift and Armour, were a third larger than many expected.
Bulk of sales. Quotations: $7.65@7.85
Heavy butchers and shipping... 7.70@7.85
Light butchers... 7.80@7.95
Light bacon, 145@150 lbs... 7.75@7.95
Heavy packing, 260@400
lbs... 7.35@7.60
Light packing 200@250 lbs... 7.55@7.75
Round hams, 100 lbs... 7.20@7.35
Pork to best pig, 60@135
lbs... 6.25@6.55
Stags, 80 lbs, dockage per head... 6.85@7.40

A lot of 1,234 1/2 Idaho horn sheep at $6.85 stood 35c above the same class Thursday. Top lambs at $10.60 were 75c higher than Monday. Bulk of 200 ewes made $10.40@10.80. Idaho yearlings at $8.15 were 40c above
Wednesday. Quotations follow:
Lambs, common to fancy $8.00@9.50
Lambs, poor to good culls 6.40@7.90
Yearlings, poor to best... 7.40@8.60
Wethers, poor to fancy... 7.10@8.60
Ewes, inferior to choice... 3.10@5.65
Bucks, common to choice 4.25@4.85
Spring lambs, woolled... 8.25@10.60

ELGIN BUTTER.
Elgin, June 26.—Elgin butter today was quoted firm at 27 cents.

JANESVILLE MARKETS.

Straw, Corn, Oats: Straw, baled, 50c; baled hay, 80@85c; loose, small demand; new oats, 58@60c; corn, 85c per bushel.

Prices Paid Producers—Ton lots:
Straw, $7@8; baled hay, $22@24;
oats, 56@48c but; ear corn $17@18.
Vegetables—Potatoes, new, 3c lb.;
old, 40c but; onions, 2c lb.; dry lb.
5c; tomatoes, 10c lb.; 40c bsk; carrots, bunch, 5c; radishes, bunch, 5c; 3
10c; green peppers 5c; beans, bunch 5c; cauliflower, 13c; lettuce, 6@10c; celery, 7@10c; spinach, 8c; asparagus, 10c bunch; plantain 5c lb.; strawberries, qt, 10c 3 for 25c; 1.25c case, pineapple, $1@1.25 per dozen; cabbage 4c lb.; gooseberries, 10c box; cherries, 10c box, 1.50 basket; cantaloupe, 10c 3 for 25c; green beans, 10c lb.; 40c bsk; 40c bsk; cucumbers, 5c@8c; California cherries, 20c bunch, 5c lb.; plums, 10c dozen; apples, 10c doz. New eating apples 7c lb.; 4 lbs. 25c.

Eggs—Dairy, 29c; creamery, 32c.
Eggs—From producers, 29c.
Pure Lard: 15c lb.; lard compound,
12 1/2c lb.; oleomargarine, 19@21c lb.
Feed: (Retail) Oil meal, $1.85 per 100 lbs.; bran, $1.30; standard mid-

PERUNA

A STANDARD FAMILY REMEDY

For Ordinary Grip;
For All Catarrhal Conditions;
For Prevention of Colds.

An Excellent Remedy

For The Convalescent;
For That Irregular Appetite; For Weakened Digestion.

Ever-Ready-to-Take

dlings, $1.45; flour middlings, $1.60@ $1.65.

Local Livestock Market.
Hogs—Heavy, $9@9.50; butchers,
$6.50@7.00; rough, $5.50@6.00; pigs,
$6@7.00.

Sheep—1@5 1/2c; lambs, 5@8c.
Cows—Fat, 5@5 1/2c; cows, 3 1/2@ 4c; Holstein dairy cows sell from $1 to $5 per 100 lbs than other breeds.

Edgerton News

Edgerton, June 26.—The Edgerton
All Stars will play the Edgerton
Cubs tomorrow afternoon at the Lake House baseball park. This game is to pick new men for the Cub team which are playing great ball this year and the outlook for a championship team is very good.
The Tobacco City Nationals will play the Milton baseball team at Edgerton, Bluffs, Sunday afternoon.
Dunne and Haller and Crandall and Whittet will be the batteries for the game.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Jensen and son Robert who have been spending the past week visiting with Mr. and Mrs.
Hal R. Martin in Madison returned to their home in this city last evening, taking a party of friends from Edgerton to their home in this city on Thursday.

Chester Ellington of Miles, City, Mont., arrived in this city last evening to spend a short time at the home of his sister, Mrs. E. W. Birkmeier in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Nicholson are entertaining relatives from Iowa this week.
Mrs. Frank Jack of Eau Claire is spending a few days visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. E. W. Birkmeier in this city.

Misses Doris Clarke and Mae Stevens departed this morning for Evansville where they will attend summer school at Northwestern university.
Secy. L. E. Gettle of Madison was a business visitor in this city last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Gile and daughter Nyria are spending the remainder of the week with relatives and friends at Marshfield and Watertown.
The Howes, wife and family of Janesville moved to this city yesterday afternoon.

F. G. Borden of Milton Junction was a business caller in this city yesterday and Mrs. A. E. Sanford of Rockford motored to this city yesterday and spent the day visiting friends.

Ray Ford went to Chicago yesterday to attend the auto races today.
Mrs. C. G. Allen of Boston is spending a few days visiting relatives in this city.

G. E. Ellis of Madison was a business caller in this city yesterday.
Supt. F. O. Holt, who is attending summer school at Medicine is spending the week end with his family in this city.

W. J. Lawrence of Madison transacted business in this city during the past week.
Henry Wilson of Darlington spent yesterday transacting business in this city.

G. Walworth spent yesterday visiting friends in Janesville.
Miss Mae Nichols spent yesterday with her pupils in Madison.
Miss Alice Nichols spent yesterday with friends and relatives in Janesville.

PETEY—HE'LL NOT ADD INSANITY TROUBLES ANYWAY.

SPORTS

OLD TIME BASEBALL IS HEAVILY INSURED

FIRST BASEBALL EVER USED IN CHAMPIONSHIP MATCH HAS INTERESTING HISTORY.

GROWTH OF AUTO RACE

Speedway Association of America Formed for the Regulation of Auto Racing Which Develops Rapidly

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

New York, June 26.—Veteran baseball fans, whose memories carry them back to the early days of the National Game, are discussing the recent report from Pittsburgh that the oldest baseball in existence has been insured for $1,000 against loss by fire or burglary. This sphere, which is covered by one piece of horsehide sewed in the center, is said to be fifty-three years old, having made its initial appearance in a game played between the Eclipse club of Kingston, N. Y., and the Hudson team of Newburgh, N. Y., on June 20, 1862, which was won by Kingston players 49 to 10.

While this is undoubtedly one of the old time spheres it is not the oldest by some years if the records regarding this department of baseball can be relied upon. A baseball which ante-dates the Pittsburgh one by five years is, or was, until recently, in the possession of P. M. Whitte of Emporia, Kansas. This sphere was used in what is claimed to be the first championship game ever played in this country. It figured in the contest between the Tri-Mountain club of Boston and the Portland, Me. team in a game played Sept. 9, 1857.

Like the Pittsburgh ball it has a one-piece cover and measures ten inches in circumference. The contest in which this ball now preserved by a coating of gold leaf and suitably inscribed, was used, was played on Boston commons and was won by Portland, 47 to 42. The match was memorable in other respects since it was the first played under the nine inning rule and the first in which the pitcher was permitted to pitch instead of being forced to use the toss or underhand throw.

Early Gridiron Practice.

Early calls for practice are to be the rule in eastern universities. Both Harvard and Pennsylvania will assemble a large portion of their squads some days before the opening of the universities in order that the players may be conditioned in the fundamentals of the game before the serious work of the season begins. The Quakers will report at Mt. Gretna, Pa., on August 28 for two weeks before the training at Franklin field and Harvard candidates will begin to get acquainted with the piskin on September 13, two weeks before the Cambridge university opens its scholastic doors for another year.

The all-american tennis team consisting of Williams, Church, Washburn and Mathey selected to represent the east in matches against the Pacific coast stars makes its first official appearance at Pittsburgh today in the clay court championships. The form shown by this quartet will be watched closely, since it is expected to give a line on the probable outcome of the West vs. East matches to be played at San Francisco about the middle of July. The personnel of the western team has not been made public as yet but it is known that the Pacific coast has a number of racquet stars to select from including McLaughlin, Bundy, Murray, Johnston, Pottrill, Griffin and Starchan. The first five of these are ranked in the leading ten players of the United States singles and doubles considered and it will be no easy task to defeat the western team especially since the play will be, in all probability, on asphalt courts.

Last season Williams defeated Johnson twice winning five out of seven sets only one of which went to duce. Murray, Pottrill and McLaughlin all fell before Williams, while his only defeat administered by an American was that by McLaughlin at Longwood. Washburn won from Pottrill and Johnston but lost to Murray. Church defeated Murray but also lost to the same player as well as to Griffin. Mathey who is classed in the third division, 21-30 players, is primarily a doubles star but McLaughlin and Bundy made short work of Mathey and his partner Church in the round of sixteen at Newport last August. The preponderance of past performances points to a victory for the West in the play at the Golden Gate next month.

Wells-Smith Fight.

That the war has not deprived English sporting events of interest is indicated by the controversy regarding the Bombardier Wells-Sergeant Dick Smith heavyweight battle, recently fought in London. Public interest here was considerable and space to the question as to whether Wells was not knocked out by Smith previously to the round in which Wells was awarded the fight.

In the eighth round Smith seized the Bombardier to the floor with a right to the body and the referee who was outside the ropes, according to the English custom, had to enter the ring before beginning his count. Wells arose at nine and in the next round knocked out his opponent. As a result of the controversy arising from this bout, it is likely that the English system of counting will be changed.

The boxing expert of the Evening News attacks the whole system of timing at the British ringside. The method he characterizes as "extremely unsatisfactory and unreliable from the point of view of every one concerned." He continues:

"Boxing is the one grand old English sport that ought not to be endangered by pandering to the interests of the contending parties. Every boxer ought to know that when he is knocked off his feet he must get onto them within ten seconds or lose. The limit of the ten seconds ought to be marked in any one way and that is by the gong."

A number of sporting events of more than ordinary interest are scheduled for various sections of the country today. The Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York, the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

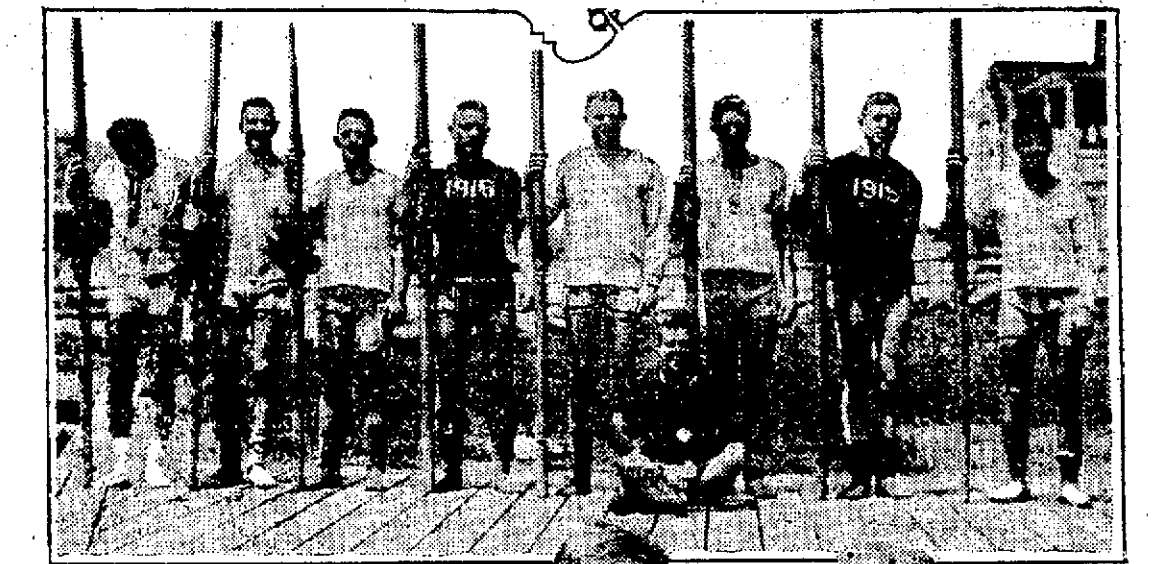

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Yale Oarsmen Win By Eight Lengths in Annual Regatta

Top, Yale crew; bottom, Captain Sturtevant of the Yale eight and Coach Guy Nickalls.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

New London, Conn., June 26.—Yale students and alumni today are celebrating the victory of the Yale varsity oarsmen over the Harvard eight in the annual regatta yesterday afternoon on the Thames. Yale won so easily that the race lacked the heart stirring thrill that 20,000 persons had looked forward to. The eight young giants driving Yale's shell merely enjoyed a pleasant and not too exhausting four mile practice spin. It was a procession from start to finish with Yale leading half a length, then a length, then two lengths and finally at the finish by eight lengths. The time was 20:52; Harvard's, 21:13.

team has not been made public as yet but it is known that the Pacific coast has a number of racquet stars to select from including McLaughlin, Bundy, Murray, Johnston, Pottrill, Griffin and Starchan. The first five of these are ranked in the leading ten players of the United States singles and doubles considered and it will be no easy task to defeat the western team especially since the play will be, in all probability, on asphalt courts.

Last season Williams defeated Johnson twice winning five out of seven sets only one of which went to duce. Murray, Pottrill and McLaughlin all fell before Williams, while his only defeat administered by an American was that by McLaughlin at Longwood. Washburn won from Pottrill and Johnston but lost to Murray. Church defeated Murray but also lost to the same player as well as to Griffin. Mathey who is classed in the third division, 21-30 players, is primarily a doubles star but McLaughlin and Bundy made short work of Mathey and his partner Church in the round of sixteen at Newport last August. The preponderance of past performances points to a victory for the West in the play at the Golden Gate next month.

Wells-Smith Fight.

That the war has not deprived English sporting events of interest is indicated by the controversy regarding the Bombardier Wells-Sergeant Dick Smith heavyweight battle, recently fought in London. Public interest here was considerable and space to the question as to whether Wells was not knocked out by Smith previously to the round in which Wells was awarded the fight.

In the eighth round Smith seized the Bombardier to the floor with a right to the body and the referee who was outside the ropes, according to the English custom, had to enter the ring before beginning his count. Wells arose at nine and in the next round knocked out his opponent. As a result of the controversy arising from this bout, it is likely that the English system of counting will be changed.

The boxing expert of the Evening News attacks the whole system of timing at the British ringside. The method he characterizes as "extremely unsatisfactory and unreliable from the point of view of every one concerned." He continues:

"Boxing is the one grand old English sport that ought not to be endangered by pandering to the interests of the contending parties. Every boxer ought to know that when he is knocked off his feet he must get onto them within ten seconds or lose. The limit of the ten seconds ought to be marked in any one way and that is by the gong."

A number of sporting events of more than ordinary interest are scheduled for various sections of the country today. The Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York, the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

Among the other events of the day are the Harvard-Yale baseball game at New York; the Pacific-Northwest Amateur Gold Tourney at Tacoma; the Connecticut state golf championship at Greenwich; the final round of the Meadow Brook polo series in which the "Big Four" winners of the International Polo Trophy in 1912 are competing and several yacht races on the great Lakes and along the Atlantic coast.

JONES' MILE RECORD WILL BE ENDANGERED

Kinviat, New York Mile Runner, Will Attempt to Break Mark Over Harvard Track Today.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Boston, Mass., June 26.—If confidence counts for anything, John Paul Jones' world record of 4:14.25 for the mile will be smashed to smithereens today on the Harvard stadium track. Abel Kiviat, the diminutive middle-distance runner of the Irish-American club of New York is out after Jones' title. Hundreds of New York admirers of the doughty little athlete have accompanied him here to watch his attempt. Kiviat will appear in the tryout held to pick athletes to represent the East in the track and field championships to be held at the Panama-Pacific Exposition Aug. 6 and 7.

Kiviat is generally conceded to be the classiest mile runner in the East today. The Harvard track is declared to be the fastest in the world. With this combination, many believe Jones' mark will be eclipsed.

Critics who saw Kiviat's great running at the Harvard Stadium in 1912 declare he would have won the world's championship then but for forgetfulness on his part.

Kiviat was running in the 1500 metre race in the Olympic tryouts. Officials have arranged for Kiviat to try for the mile record at the same time. Kiviat ran the race of his life that smashed the 1500 metre record to pieces. As he crossed the finish line of that race he forgot for a moment his plan to con the mile and he slowed down. Scores of friends and officials brought him to his senses and he spurred ahead again, finishing the mile. The clock caught him just one-fifth of a second under the record. Had he not slowed up when he crossed the 1500 metre line officials declare he would have set a new mile record by seconds.

Colorado Derby. Denver, Colo., June 26.—Overland Track's leading race, the Colorado Derby, for three-year-olds, was to be run today. A big field has been entered for the event which pays the winner $2,000.

Atlantic Y. C. Races. New York, June 26.—The second of the Saturday races arranged by the Atlantic Yacht club attracted a large crowd of yachtsmen to the lower bay. The races today were open to yachts of Class M and below.

Athletic Club Races. New York, June 26.—The annual Block Island races of the New York Athletic club starts today, with sailing craft scheduled for this morning and motor boats in the afternoon. The course is a hundred miles.

Golfers Off to Coast. New York, June 26.—The first train with the eastern golfers who will compete in the trans-continental and Pacific Coast tour of the Intercollegiate, Alumnae and Alpha Delta Phi golf teams left New York today on the "College Golfers Special" to the Exposition. Stopovers will be made at Chicago, Denver, Colorado Springs and Salt Lake City.

The School Lunch. Some mothers today are providing their children at school with a set of white enameled water plate and cups for use at lunch hour. These things can be easily kept clean and their introduction does away with the breakage which so frequently occurs in the lunch-time frolics.

Now is the time to get rid of any household article you do not wish to store or have no use for.

BASEBALL RESULTS.

Results of Thursday's Games.

American League.

Boston 12, Washington 4.

Detroit 9, St. Louis 3.

New York 7, Philadelphia 6.

Chicago 5, Cleveland 4 (19 innings).

New York 13, Philadelphia 5.

Cincinnati 5, Pittsburgh 3.

Boston 6, Brooklyn 0.

Chicago 14, St. Louis 13.

American Association.

Minneapolis 4, Milwaukee 2.

St. Paul 12, Kansas City 1.

Louisville 9, Columbus 8.

STANDING OF THE TEAMS.

American League.

Chicago 14, St. Louis 13.

Detroit 9, St. Louis 3.

New York 7, Philadelphia 6.

Chicago 5, Cleveland 4 (19 innings).

New York 13, Philadelphia 5.

Cincinnati 5, Pittsburgh 3.

Boston 6, Brooklyn 0.

Chicago 14, St. Louis 13.

American Association.

Minneapolis 4, Milwaukee 2.

St. Paul 12, Kansas City 1.

Louisville 9, Columbus 8.

STANDING OF THE TEAMS.

American League.

HUNDRED MILE RACE

SCHEDULED JULY 5

Ten Entries Received for Speed Race Which Will Be Run at Association Grounds Next Monday.

Janesville will have its first one hundred mile automobile speed race on Monday, July 5th, over the race track at the Park association grounds. This will be the first time that a century mark race has ever been attempted over the Janesville track and interest is being taken in the outcome.

It has been declared by racing drivers who have piloted machines over the association course that the local track is good for real speed, being hard with wide enough turns and straight-aways to allow for plenty of speed. Under favorable conditions a new record for southern Wisconsin is expected to be hung up July 5th as the speed machines will be piloted by expert drivers.

A collection of fast cars have thus far been entered for the event and since the course is in plain view of the public at all times, an interesting as well as spectacular race will result. The entries that have now been received include a Stutz, two Buicks, Jackson, Pope-Hartford, Midland, Cutting and a special made creation which has developed unusual speed over a mile track.

Within ten days two presumably smart ball players in the American league have shown their ignorance of the rules on a simple play. In each case two runners occupied third base and the wrong runner was tagged with the ball and an out claimed. Jimmy Austin of the Browns was one of the benighted players to get mixed up and Steve O'Neill about your teeth;

ARE YOU WORRIED

There's just one way to solve that. Get in touch with a good dentist and put your problems up to him.

I have had a lot of practical experience. Try me.

DR. F. T. RICHARDS
(Over Rehberg's.)
All work fully guaranteed.

The Savings Incentive

The saver is seldom stingy. The spender makes himself be. He that the saving habit is all wrong.

Those persons who have savings accounts here are saving, not so much from habit as from incentive. They have bargained with themselves to save regularly for a purpose and every dollar deposited brings them closer to their objective point.

The incentive to save is all important and your bank book shows at a glance just how your savings are growing.

3% On Savings.

The First National Bank
Established 1855.

Money For Vacation

Did you have enough this year? Will you have enough next year?

You will have plenty of "Ready Money" for Vacation next year if you join our Vacation Club which is now open for membership. The plan is simple and permits of easy saving on small amounts. Let us explain it to you.

The Bower City Bank

Sam E. Egtvedt, TUNING

Call Sherer's Drug Store or R. C. Phone 862.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

FOR SALE—Electrical Contracting and Supply business in Madison; best reason for retiring. A good going business, established ten years. Will turn over profitable. Address 407 W. Doty St., Madison, Wis. 17-26-31.

LOST—Purse containing $5.00 bill and change between T. Burns' store and River St. New phone 858 blue. 25-26-27.

WANTED—Two men to hoe tobacco plants. John Drew. Old phone 761. 25-26-27.

FOR SALE—Tobacco plants, pure Comstock seed, sterilized beds; also about 80,000 Holland cabbage plants, ready for machine. John Drew. Old phone 761. 25-26-27.

NOTICE—We are not very busy at the present time and can take care of any odd jobs in carpentry or machine work that you may have around your house. J. A. Denning, 60 S. Franklin St. Both phones. 13-26-27.

FOR SALE—Gas range with hood and a domestic sewing machine, both in excellent condition, at a bargain. Call every day 9:00 a. m. and 1:00 p. m. Sundays and evenings. 16-26-31.

LOST—Pen knife, left on desk in postoffice this morning. Owner carried for 20 years. Finder return to Garrett and receive reward. 25-26-27.

CARPENTER WORK and repairs, carpenter work alterations, etc.; reasonable prices; contracts solicited. G. Traver, Bell phone 348; 412 Cherry St. 27-28-29.

FOR RENT—Modern furnished rooms, 115 S. Main. Phone 678 black. 8-26-31.

FOR SALE—Black walnut three-piece bedroom suite, also Hot Point electric iron. Good condition. Old phone 1956. 13-26-27.

BOARD AND ROOM at $5 per week at Schlitz Hotel. 10-26-31.

STORAGE for furniture, clean and dry warehouse. Talk to Lowell. 14-26-31.

TIN WORK, all kinds, by expert workman. Talk to Lowell. 27-28-31.

ONE QUART ICE CREAM FREEZER $1.25; two quart $1.50. Talk to Lowell. 13-26-31.

END HAND GILT EDGE FURNACE, large size, for sale cheap. Talk to Lowell. 14-26-31.

MONTEREY SLUGGERS LOSE TWO GAMES TO NEW TEAM

A newly organized team under the name of the Fourth Ward Sluggers defeated the Monterey Sluggers two games yesterday afternoon at the Fourth ward park, the first game being 10 to 3 and the second going ten in the score of 10 to 2. The Sluggers extend a challenge to any team in Janesville under sixteen years of age. The lineups of the two teams were as follows:

Sluggers: C. Kobert, p. Cassidy, ss. Navock, 1b. Britt, 2b. Skelly, 3b. Roggie, 1f. O'Brien, cf. and Ryan, rf. Sluggers: Leutz, captain C. Block, p. G. Hagen, ss. Skelly, 1b. Hagen, 2b. G. Hagen, 3b. Shilling, 1f. Craft, cf. and Prox, rf.

See the Rockford Maroons play next Sunday afternoon.

BOWER CITY FAIR STATE AID STATUTE SIGNED BY PHILIPP

State Help is Awarded Local Exhibition—Means Much to Directors and Men Behind Project.

Madison, Wis., June 26.—Gov. Earl Philipp has signed the bill providing for state aid to the Janesville Park association.

Word of the governor's signing the state aid bill for the Janesville fair received here with joy by members of the board of directors and other individuals who have advanced money through the purchase of stock in the enterprise. The money just at this time will help greatly in the upbuilding of an institution and make a material difference in the sum which the principal debts incurred by the association can be paid.

The act of Governor Philipp in signing the Boshard bill, No. 266, amending the life insurance laws of the state, opens the way for the re-issuance of a score of large life companies which withdrew from Wisconsin in 1907, following drastic legislation. The Boshard bill was favored by the companies and the insurance department. That it is one of the companies, the Mutual Life of New York, has decided to re-enter the Wisconsin field. The others have either decided to remain out or have left the matter to the state.

Other bills signed by the governor yesterday included the following: Declaring the keeping open of shops for the sale of groceries or meats on Sunday in the city of Milwaukee was not works of necessity or charity. (This makes them amenable to the Sunday laws.) Effective Nov. 1, 1915.

Permitting the banking commission discretion in the matter of allowing overdrafts by banks.

Reducing the fee for reporting fines to the state fire marshal from $2 to $1 each.

Providing for a laboratory at the Madison state hospital for giving to Wisconsin tests to persons confined in a state institution or for any practicing physician in the state.

Providing that the publication of general laws in newspapers shall be with not less than five copies and in paper sizes specified in the law.

Reimbursing members of a former state fair board for expenses paid in bringing a victim of an airplane accident in the 1910 state fair.

Providing that the salary of the superintendent of highways in towns in Milwaukee county shall not exceed $1,200, the salary of the first and second at the annual town meeting.

Making it a felony, punishable by penitentiary term, to make a written statement of assets which proves to be false.

Ladies free at ball game Sunday.

EAGLES COME HOME WITH TWO PRIZES

Janesville Aerie Carries Off Second Ritual Honors—Drill Team is Highly Complimented.

Janesville Aerie, No. 724, Fraternal Order of Eagles delegation returned home last evening from La Crosse the scene of the 1915 Wisconsin state convention of the order, where they carried off two prizes of fifty dollars each. The work of the local aerie won second honors, for their fine work shown. The other prize of fifty dollars was given for the aerie sending the largest number of delegates to the convention, in proportion to the size of the aerie and the mileage distance from La Crosse. Janesville won this prize. Wausau was first prize in ritual work.

The Milwaukee aerie given special mention by the La Crosse papers, as being one of the highest class. John C. Nichols, past state secretary for eight years, and the only man to hold that office so long a time, was decorated this year. His work during the eight years has been one of service and worthy of special attention. The Janesville aerie delegates to the convention were: George H. Esser, Louis Anger, Harry Handy and Louis Heffer. The convention closed last evening, with one of the largest ever held in this state. Between 350 and 400 delegates were present, not counting the drill teams and other members. Forty-one from this city attended.

Music at ball game Sunday.

ANDERSON RILED OVER THIS CASE

Poormaster Has Grievance Against Jefferson County Sheriff

PERSONAL MENTION

Mrs. N. L. Lindley, son O'Dell and sister, Miss Metts, Joseph leave this evening for Spokane, Wash. to visit their sister, Mrs. Oscar Baker.

George Arnold, who is spending his three weeks' vacation at the home of his parents on Chatham street, has gone to Rib Lake, Wis., for the week on a fishing trip.

Notice: The Woman's History club will hold a special meeting Monday afternoon at two o'clock at Library Hall. All members are urged to attend. Business of importance.

Attention A. O. H.: All members are requested to take the 1 o'clock car for Beloit Sunday, June 27.

A. A. Fink has left on an extended business trip to Pennsylvania points and New York City.

George McCaffrey, Jr., left today for Prairie du Chien, where he will accept a position for the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Covell of Waterville, Iowa, who have been visiting in the city for the past several days, today for a short stay in Milwaukee. The Presbyterian choir members, about eighteen in number, went to church this morning to remain over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Wheelock were in Chicago today.

J. Sack, traveling passenger agent for the Southern Pacific, was in the city today on business.

Charles Snyder will spend Sunday at Delavan lake with his family.

Miss Frances Dooley, 183 South High street, returned from Chicago last evening after spending the week with relatives and friends.

Mrs. D. B. Clark and son and daughter, Mrs. E. J. Clark, of Lafayette, Ind., are in Janesville for the day. The guests of Mrs. Clark's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gibson.

Miss Lucile Jersid of Delavan is visiting her cousins, Ruth and Genevieve Jensen, at Delavan.

Earl Jensen is with the Y. M. C. A. boys' camp at Delavan.

Mrs. Andrew McNeill was suddenly called to Jett this morning on receipt of word that her mother was very ill at that place.

Mrs. Robert Wetherall has returned from a week's visit with friends in Edgerton.

Mr. Stanley Tallman, of North Jackson street, is spending several days in Racine with relatives.

Anna Baker of St. Lawrence avenue went to Chicago today, where she will be the guest of her mother and Mrs. Pearson for several days.

Miss Mabel Green of Wilmington, Delaware, is visiting friends in this city.

Mrs. Clark Burham of 803 Hyatt street gave a lawn picnic yesterday afternoon for the members of a M. E. church circle. The husbands were invited and supper was served on the lawn.

Mrs. Elwood J. Rogers and daughter, Helen, of Wilmington, Delaware, are the guests of relatives for a few weeks in this city.

Glen McCarthy of Indianapolis, Ind., has been spending the past week in this city with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McCarthy. He was called home to attend the funeral of his grandfather and will return to Indianapolis tomorrow.

Mrs. Henry Johnson of Edgerton was a visitor in this city on Friday.

Miss Leta Taylor, who has been a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Grant, of Cornelia street for some time, returned yesterday to her home in Adams, Chicago.

Mrs. Estelle Chicago, is visiting at the home of the Misses Kittie and Mable Bennett on Milton avenue.

Mrs. C. E. McCarthy and son, Glen, spent Friday with relatives in Blaine, Ill.

Mrs. Daniel Skelly of Fourth avenue entertained an auction bridge club this week. Mrs. Albert Schnell won the prize. Tea was served at five o'clock.

Miss Jo's of South High street will leave on Sunday for Ann Arbor, Mich., where he will take up a special summer work at Ann Arbor university.

Miss Della Schott of Beloit will give a recital for her class in music at Beloit on Monday, and her class from this city will attend. The most of the will take part in the Beloit program.

Mrs. Albert Schnell, Milton avenue, has gone to Belvidere, where she will visit with relatives over Sunday.

William Bronson was a Beloit visitor today on business.

Mrs. A. T. Phillips of South Main street is entertaining her brother, Mr. Henry F. Childs of Newark, N. J., and her son, Herbert A. Phillips, of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Smyth and family will spend Sunday at their cottage at Delavan.

Miss Hazel Welch, who has been teaching for the past year at Two Rivers, Wisconsin, left this morning to join a Chicago party enroute to Yellowstone Park and other western points.

Mrs. Margaret Dolan of 1112 Oakland avenue, went to Rosholt this morning for a visit with relatives.

Mrs. W. Nuzum of 692 Milwaukee avenue, entertained at a one o'clock luncheon today in honor of Miss Constance Pender. The decorations for the table and house were sweet peas and peonies. The place cards were hearts with lilacs of the valley tied to them. The afternoon was spent in games and music.

Mrs. Henry Woodstock has returned to Iowa after several weeks spent in Chicago.

Mrs. A. A. Frost of Milwaukee, is visiting her niece, Mrs. Howard W. Lee.

Mrs. Frank Pearson and daughter, Miss Lave, have gone to their home at Edgerton following a visit at the home of Mrs. Pearson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Lee.

Miss Lave, who is a student at Rosary academy, Racine, is a guest at the home of 1113 Ford, Racine street.

FIFTEEN MONTHS UNDER STATE BOARD

Green Bay Reformatory Crowded—Only State Which Saves Robert Irving From Institution.

Robert Irving's apprehending of a pocketbook of another while serving sentence under the jurisdiction of the commitment statute will cause him to be held for fifteen months under the eye of the law. Judge Maxwell in municipal court this morning heard Irving's plea of guilt and directed a suspension of sentence from the reformatory at Green Bay to one under the state board of control after learning that the reformatory authorities would be, for some time, unable to receive any more prisoners committed to the institution.

A state agent will come here to make proper disposal of Irving's time while he serves his sentence.

Maxfield admonished the young man, 25 years of age, that the wrongs he had been doing and pleaded for a change in the course of the life of the youth. Irving, in April, was committed to the reformatory after taking a pocketbook at the Northwestern depot from a young lady he had met on the previous evening at a dance, while the latter was awaiting a train.

CITY DADS APPROVE TWO PAVING PLANS

Milton Avenue and South Bluff Street Specifications Approved—Petition Curb-Line Change.

Members of the Janesville commission held a meeting at the city hall yesterday afternoon. Plans and specifications for the paving of two streets were approved. Milton avenue from St. Mary's avenue to the city limits, an approximate half mile, will be paved with brick, twenty-three feet wide. The city engineer, J. H. Johnson, has completed the laying of its new rails on Milton avenue and has also paved between the tracks, using a heavy concrete foundation for the rails.

South Bluff street, from Oakland avenue to Clark street, two blocks, will be laid with asphalt macadam. The city engineer will be supervising on either side of South High street between Galena street and Western avenue, petitioned the commissioners for a change of curbside. The change will be made by curbing the sidewalk on the side of the street a distance of 3.5 ft. west, and on the opposite side a similar distance in the same direction, giving property owners on the west side seven feet of sidewalk between the outer sidewalk edge and the gutter.

OPEN PLAYGROUNDS TUESDAY MORNING

Directors Will Meet Monday Morning at High School to Make Final Plans And to Set up Apparatus.

The playgrounds will open on Tuesday morning of next week for the summer instead of Monday, as announced last week. The directors will meet at 10 o'clock on Monday morning to make final plans. The playground directors, together with the city board of directors, will convene Monday morning at 8:30 at the high school to lay definite plans for the summer's work, and to arrange the grounds in condition for the opening. Mr. Cox will be assisted this summer by Gay W. Curtis at the Adams school; Robert Cunningham at the Jefferson; Edward Atwood at the Washington and Victor Hemming at the Webster building.

LIMA IS TO HAVE LARGE CELEBRATION ON FOURTH

Lima, June 26.—Lima will celebrate the 4th on Saturday, the third. A street parade, for which 30 numbers are already promised, will be at 10:30. The parade will be assisted by the old town flag that has not floated to the breeze for at least 30 years, which will once more grace a pole, which will be erected on the vacant corner opposite Reeder's store at 2 p. m. Rev. S. Lugg will give an address. Come one, come all and have a good time all through the day and stay to dance in the evening.

Dr. and Mrs. Morion and Mrs. Pearl Burgett and son Harlan of Whitewater called on Mrs. Gould and Mrs. F. J. Farnham of Whitewater called on relatives here Thursday.

The "Mother Goose" entertainment given under the supervision of Mrs. J. W. Connel and George Austin, of Milwaukee, are a grand success by all and a neat little sum added to the library fund.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Collins spent part of last week in Fairfield.

JANESVILLE STARS NOW ARE JANESVILLE RED SOX

The Janesville Stars have changed their name to the Janesville Red Sox and meet the Young North End nine of Beloit tomorrow at the Spring Brook diamond. This is the second game with Beloit that the Stars have won. The Beloit aggregation will be the line-up for the Red Sox will be Spohn, c. Kakuske, p. Jackson, ss. Miller, 1b. Furlerton, 2b. McGinley, 3b. Roherty, lf. Viney, cf. Marshall, rf.

CITY LEAGUE GAMES PLAYED TODAY MEAN BIG PLACE SHAKEUP

Y. M. C. A. Battle to Stay on Top, While Railroad Team Tries to Climb.

Struggling to keep at the top of the league and retain their title of "top-notchers" the hard hitting Y. M. C. A. baseball team met the Parker Fen company this afternoon at the Fair Grounds. At the same diamond a few minutes later the sturdy railroad nine will fight for a higher notch in the standing of the teams, endeavoring to test the Lewis Knitting company aggregation.

The "rails" have become a fast organization and will undoubtedly prove a troublesome cog to the swift Y. M. C. A. team. If they win this afternoon and the Y. M. C. A. lose it will place the Parkers at the top with the Y. M. C. A. and the railroad team for second honors. Then if the rails were to win their next game and the Parkers to lose theirs, this would place them at the pinnacle.

As it is there will be a battle by all teams to keep their position and establish themselves permanently as a possible pennant winner in today's grueling battles. The railroad will lead in Lewis today, while the Y. M. C. A. will be in the "Y" team. Doran will do the work of back stop for the Fen company, who has left the city for a short stay and will play this line up will be as follows: Stewart, J. ss. Korst, 3b. Sullivan, 2b. Miller, 1b. Hemming, 1b. Stickney, lf. Stewart, cf. Curtis, p.

FIGURES PRESENTED IN FIRST ARTICLE

Temperance Educational League Submits Statistics Relative to Cost of Intoxicating Liquor.

It is the first of its series of articles which were announced in the Gazette a week ago, the Temperance Educational League of this city treats of the cost of the liquor habit. The article contains some pertinent figures. It follows:

Statistics show that in the year 1913 the people of Wisconsin drank 13,842,000 gallons of liquor, or 1.5 gallons per capita and paid for all kinds of strong drink $48.40 per person. The city of Janesville, according to last census report has a population of 13,842 persons. If they consume as much liquor as the average throughout the state they are spending annually for strong drink approximately $702,480.00. A considerable portion of that money goes to brewers and distillers out of the city. One fifth of that amount is annually sent out of Janesville for liquor what does it mean? It means that $134,480.00 is annually exported from Janesville for a commodity that does not increase the wealth of our city any appreciable amount. In ten years it means that Janesville is drained of $1,344,800.00. It means that the balance of trade in that particular community is against Janesville and in favor of Milwaukee, Chicago and other cities for a large amount annually. It means that these cities are getting our money; that we are poorer and they are richer by a large amount. Now what would the result be if that money were deposited in Janesville banks or used by our citizens to buy, beautify and improve homes? What would be stimulus to the city? If that money were used to buy groceries, meat and clothing, or were available for the payment of uncollectible, outstanding accounts now on the books of Janesville merchants and business men? Would not Janesville be more prosperous if that money were kept at home?

STRONG SITUATIONS IN "THE TIGRESS"

Beautiful Photoplay Featuring Talented Russian Actress Well Received.

The brilliant dramatic actress, Madame Olga Petrova was seen at her best in the international drama of intrigue and romance, "The Tigress" at the Webster yesterday afternoon and evening.

The story of the picture deals with life in Russia and the damnable practices used by the higher officials in that country. The picture as they will Stella Orloff, who has been betrayed escapes from the country and comes to America where she earns the sobriquet of "The Tigress" and preys on society.

Mrs. Petrova is a beautiful and versatile actress and her dramatic ability is given full play in this picture.

Ice Cream Social.

Where? At E. L. Bingham's.

When? Wednesday evening, June 30.

Why? To replenish the treasury of the Harmony W. C. T. U.

TOBACCO SHED BLAZED BY MEN FIRING THRASHER HOUSED WITHIN STRUCTURE

Steaming up on a thrashing machine in an obacco shed nearly caused a big loss on the farm of Charles Sykes on North Washington street, a short distance from the cemeteries, yesterday noon today. Sparks from fire to the roof inside and when Chief Kline's emergency car arrived they were making good headway along the eaves of the farm help and neighbors to stay out of the place. A lead of hose was laid from Magnolia avenue when the first cart arrived and it was not long before the fire was under control. It was a long run for the department. Damage was normal.

When you think of Insurance think of C. F. Beers—Adv.

Apt Companion.

George is fond of Mother Goose rhymes. His favorite is "Old Mother Hubbard." One day he begged his mother for candy. She thought he should not have it and refused. He looked at her an instant, then turning away with a sigh said: "And so the poor dog had none."

Electric Lighting Expert Offers His Advice Free of Any Cost.

The problem of securing the maximum of light from your electric fixtures is one that H. B. Wagoner, the new manager of the Janesville Contracting Company has given a great deal of study to and he is one of the best authorities on electric lighting in this section.

It is not so much the matter of the fixtures as it is the way the fixtures are installed and the type used. He is ever willing to consult with anyone contemplating putting in new lighting systems, at no expense to that person.

The fixture room of the Janesville Contracting Company has been newly remodeled and a complete line of new fixtures installed. Great care is taken to keep the line up-to-date. A visit to this room is a real inspiration to one trying to decide upon the style or type of fixture to be used.

The Janesville Contracting Company is located at the office of the Janesville Electric Company.

HAD A HARD TIME GETTING HIM CELL

Turnkey Wogan Almost Had to Return to Rock County Jail With Man Sentenced to Green Bay.

Overcrowded conditions at the Green Bay reformatory almost made Turnkey Wogan's trip to that institution yesterday with a prisoner almost as difficult. Wogan's car, N. Y. who, according to a Beloit paper, was too proud to beg from door to door but too honest to take advantage of an open freight car door and slip inside and march away with two cartons of smoking tobacco.

McCarthy, who secured a grand larceny charge and was sentenced to a year in Green Bay on Thursday and was brought to the county jail this afternoon.

Wogan and his prisoner arrived at Green Bay but the warden's clerk refused to accept McCarthy. Only the fact that he had come a long distance and that he must get away at once to catch his train home kept the local turnkey from returning with his prisoner. The warden took into consideration these things and finally agreed to accept McCarthy.

JANESVILLE COUPLE ARE MARRIED THIS MORNING

This morning at seven o'clock Rev. Wm. Mahoney united in marriage, Miss Helen A. Boylen and George H. Gahagan, both of Janesville.

The bride wore a gown of white crepe meteser and a shantilly lace. Her veil was of white netting. The groom wore a suit of blue serge and a pink over pink crepe meteser. Frank Gahagan served his brother as best man.

After the ceremony the guests were served a four-course breakfast at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Boylen.

After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Gahagan will return to this city where they will reside.

The guests from out of the city were Mrs. Mary McCarthy, Mrs. J. W. Wallace of Chicago, Miss Maline Manz, Milwaukee; Miss Alice Norden of Monroe; Mrs. Thos. Rafter of Woodstock, Ill.; Frank Cavany, Whitewater; Chas. and Ray Devias, Footville; E. M. Boylen, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Devias, Footville; and Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Corbelle, Fond du Lac.

Fraternal Aid Union picnic 27th of June, Crystal Springs. Public is invited. Boat will leave every hour after 9 o'clock. Music all afternoon. Games of all kinds.

NEW GLARUS MASONS GET LODGE CHARTER

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Monroe, Wis., June 26.—The New Glarus Masonic lodge, which was organized about a year ago, but since that time has been working under a dispensation, held an all day convention yesterday to commemorate the receipt of the charter of the new lodge in that town. Grand Master Wm. F. Perry, of Elkhart, Wis., and W. W. Perry, grand secretary of Milwaukee, were in charge of the ceremonies in the evening. Governor Emanuel L. Philipp was also present.

At a recent session of the Wisconsin Pharmaceutical Association held at Madison, La. Wm. E. Wagoner was presented by that body with a beautiful gold watch and chain as a token of their appreciation of his services as treasurer of the association for the past year.

The Milton grades assisted by Weckwith, catcher; Landphere and Curtis, pitchers, played the Lima Center grade here on Friday. The game was a close one, with a short stop, Froh, put up the better game, but the outsiders enabled Milton to tie the score at eleven to eleven.

Milton News

VETERAN JOHN DAVIDSON SUCCEUMS AT HIS HOME.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Milton, Wis., June 26.—John Davidson died Friday night after an illness of several weeks. Deceased had lived in this village since coming to the state, prior to 1850. He was a veteran of the Civil War, served in the Twenty-second Wisconsin Infantry and during his service was wounded in the head, but continued to serve until the close of the war, and was a member of the local G. O. P. Post. He leaves a widow, three sons, Arthur and Thomas, of Beloit, Kan. Russell, of Milwaukee, and two daughters, Mrs. C. L. Platts, Jr., of Chicago, and Mrs. Estella Javer of this city.

At a recent session of the Wisconsin Pharmaceutical Association held at Madison, La. Wm. E. Wagoner was presented by that body with a beautiful gold watch and chain as a token of their appreciation of his services as treasurer of the association for the past year.

The Milton grades assisted by Weckwith, catcher; Landphere and Curtis, pitchers, played the Lima Center grade here on Friday. The game was a close one, with a short stop, Froh, put up the better game, but the outsiders enabled Milton to tie the score at eleven to eleven.

E. H. Wilbur and wife of Los Angeles, Cal. are visiting the brothers, W. H. and W. C. Wilbur and families.

Jay C. Williams and wife have returned from their trip to the San Francisco Exposition and coast points.

Mr. Hibbard of Dayton Beach, Fla., visited Milton friends Friday.

Mrs. J. M. Palmer and son, of Grand Rapids, Ill., are visiting Milton relatives.

The Fourth of July parade will start at 10 o'clock on Madison avenue at Fetherston's mill. All who are to participate are requested to be on hand at 9:30.

Prof. Joseph Granger Jr., of the State University faculty, visited his father, J. H. Granger Friday.

Contracting Co. Show New Fixtures

Electric Lighting Expert Offers His Advice Free of Any Cost.

The problem of securing the maximum of light from your electric fixtures is one that H. B. Wagoner, the new manager of the Janesville Contracting Company has given a great deal of study to and he is one of the best authorities on electric lighting in this section.

It is not so much the matter of the fixtures as it is the way the fixtures are installed and the type used. He is ever willing to consult with anyone contemplating putting in new lighting systems, at no expense to that person.

THE ROCK COUNTY SAVINGS & TRUST CO.

F. H. Jackman, Pres.
Geo. Thomas, Secretary
A Bank for Savings Only.

TO ENJOY AUTO TRIP TO WISCONSIN DELLS

Five Janesville Cars Will Leave Sunday Morning For Tour to Badger State Beauty Spot.

Five automobiles owned and driven by Charles Chase, James Drummond, H. M. Keating, Charles Butler and F. J. Hinterschield, and carrying their families, will leave tomorrow morning for the Dells of the Wisconsin river to spend several days' outing at this delightful beauty spot. The cars will be profusely decorated with Janesville banners and streamers and the party plans to do a little boating for the Bower city in addition to enjoying a pleasant outing.

If you are looking for help of any kind read the want ads.

FAIR STORE

DRY GOODS DEPT.

Crepe de chine Waists $2 and $2.25.
Silk Waists, all sizes, $1.00.
Voile, lawn and tub silk Waists, 50c, 75c and $

SIDE LIGHTS on THE CIRCUS BUSINESS

By D. W. WATT

My first year with the Adam Forepaugh show when winter quarters were in Philadelphia, the show opened the season on April 6th in Washington D. C. I went direct from Janesville to Washington to join the show and when I introduced myself to Mr. Forepaugh who was at that time I had never known him. He took me in the ticket wagon, gave me the keys, and told me that my duties would be to sell tickets, pay the bills and pay the people, and in fact do everything connected with the financial end of the show. I had to issue all the sideshow and reserve seat tickets, and the sellers had to account to me for everything in those departments. Mr. Forepaugh told me that the bookkeeping would be simple, that I had but one man to please, as he had no partners.

I was not much on bookkeeping," he said, "and what I want you to do in the bookkeeping line is to put down on one side what you take in, and what you pay out on the other, so that at a glance I can tell every day what we are doing."

And while he was right in a way that it was a one man show, it was not so long until I found out that the show was Adam Forepaugh Jr., and only child that cut quite a figure around the show, and in a way he too, had to be pleased. His mother had died when he was but five years old, and the father kept the boy with the show from that time on, and while the boy was supposed to put in a certain amount of time every day with his books, this had to be done in the dressing room of the show which did not mean anything in the way of an education for the boy. But growing up as he did in the business he became efficient in all the different departments of the show, and at that time was the greatest all-around animal trainer in the world. He was a good boss hostler, could load and unload the train as quick as any master of transportation, and he never had, knew all about how to put up the canvas, and the seats and in short was the most valuable all-around man that they ever had in the business.

The father knew this and appreciated it all, and anything that the young man's heart desired he had to have. Whether the young man wanted fifty dollars or a hundred, all he had to do in the future was to come to the ticket wagon and ask for it.

A season or two later the young man had been spending considerable money, and one day he came again to the ticket wagon and notified me that if his son wanted any more money that he would have to get it through him.

"You value your position Dave, I want you to recollect this and when he comes again, tell him that he will have to have an order from me," Adam Forepaugh said.

Soon after the father had left the ticket wagon, the young man was there and wanted money, I said, "Nothing doing." I have orders from your father that you must get an order from him for what money you want from this time on. The young man looked at me and said, "Is that so? I just want to tell you something. If you don't give me what money I want, I will get one of those sledge hammers and open your head myself." As my sales were of the flat express style, of safes they would not stand the sledge hammer way of opening very long, so I said to him, if that is the way you feel about it, I guess you had better have a little money. How much do you want?" And when he told me $500, I handed it to him and away he went, and in a few minutes the father came again and asked me if I had seen Adam lately. I said, "Yes, very lately." For I well knew that he knew that Young Adam had just been there. Mr. Forepaugh said to me, "Dave, what did he want?" I said, "He didn't want to come out to make me a visit. His visit was one that was strictly business." "Did he want money?" he said. "That was what he wanted," I replied, "and what he got."

"How much did he want?" said Adam Forepaugh. When I told him five hundred, he said "Did you give it to him?" "Certainly did," I said. He looked at me for a few seconds and finally said: "He is certainly a hard boy to get rid of when he wants money." And the old man walked away, and this gave me to understand that there were two men with the show that I must please and the one that must be considered above all others in the financial way was Adam Forepaugh Jr. While he spent many thousands of dollars every year, he was certainly worth it for when it came to running the show, he knew it all from A to Z and was always on the job early in the morning until late at night, and the same way in the winter as in the summer. And yet, while the son was well up in the business, which he had put in his entire life to learn, when the father died and when the will was opened, the one that the boy knew but little or nothing about. So that great show was sold for the most that it would bring, and while the young man put in some three or four years more in the business, he then retired and has never been prominent in the business since.

The late George Evans, the great minstrel, better known as "Honey Boy" Evans, the business, was buried at his old home at Streator, Ill. The following tribute paid him by the Hagenbeck-Wallace Show a few days ago, only goes to show that show people seldom forget.

"That George (Honey Boy) Evans had friends everywhere, was demonstrated at Streator, Ill., when the Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace circus exhibited there on Tuesday, June 8.

As Bert Cole, announcer for the show, was making his daily visit to the merchants, one of them, Mr. Williams by name, mentioned that Streator was the home, and last resting place of George Evans. At once Mr. Cole began devising plans with the Local Lodge of Elks, No. 591 to visit the grave in Riverview cemetery at Streator after the afternoon's performance.

Before the afternoon performance had commenced, thirty automobiles had been arranged for including a large auto truck, donated by Mr. Williams, for the big show band, about 4:30 the performance terminated, and the Elks of the show and a delegation of local Elks were on their way to the cemetery, making a procession four blocks in length.

At the grave the Rev. Reeves of the Congregational church said a few prayers, and James Sullivan and Fred Edgar sang "Nearer My God to Thee." The sight was an impressive one, and many tears were shed.

From the cemetery the boys returned to the Elks Lodge rooms where the show band played. He is Gone, but Not Forgotten.

The late Warren A. Patrick who passed away on Friday, last June 18, at his home in Chicago, spent his boyhood days in Janesville, and there was but few people who knew him better than I. Twenty-one years ago last winter, I gave him a letter of recommendation which at least did its part in securing him his first position in the show business—that of assistant treasurer and bookkeeper with the great Ringling Show. In last week's Billboard, a circus and theatrical journal, an old friend writes the following which is true to life of Warren Patrick and gives you a better idea of the man he was, than it would be possible for me to do.

"Pat had passed on."

"His smiling face is set and rigid, his pen laid aside, his typewriter responsive to another's touch and the great big kind heart of him stilled for aye."

"Sanguine, confident, optimistic, ever—he painted the future in rosyate hues, brushing aside about doubt and misgiving with the fine scorn and splendid impatience."

"His faith in the weeks, months and years to come was boundless. They held, he was sure, vast stores of wealth, success, fame and happiness, and he apportioned these among his friends, acquaintances, clients and showfolk eagerly with a lavish hand."

"For Pat was generous always. He gave of his gifts, his time, his attention and his sympathy and he gave royally."

"Also he gave of his means—and all too liberally—for, though a contrary impression was widely held."

"Don't stop me, my good man, my time means money to me."

"It does to me too, boss, so pass it over quick!"

Pat's means were meager and his salary—not large.

There may have been greater writers than Pat, but there never were or will be any more lovable.

"Some there were, even among those who knew him well and liked him much, who thought he was too prone of abuse."

"The opened that he limned over lavishly and laid on his color too thick and fulsomely, but there is not one of these but will now omit that Pat painted his friends, if not as they were, at least as he wished they were and believed they might become."

"Pat was a man's man, which means that he was a manly man."

"He was a fond husband and an affectionate and very proud father, but his wife and daughter excepted, all his friends and inmates were men—almost entirely show men."

"As a man he measured up away above the average and not even a president of this great country of ours will be more sincere or more widely mourned."

RICHES FIRST. She—Now honestly, if you had to choose between me and a million dollars, which would you choose? He—'I'd choose this million first, and I'd be pretty sure of you after wards.'

Sport Snap Shots MORRIS MILLER

The Detroit club has sent Pitcher Ledbetter back to the Charlotte club of the North Carolina league. A place might have been found for him in the Chicago club, but he had been bought under option and if retained Detroit would have had to pay more money than any magnate likes to invest in a player these days.

Winning the world series seems to have gone to the heads of some of the Boston Braves. In spite of the fact that they are drawing inflated salaries in a poor season they still put themselves ahead of the club owner who has to hustle for their pay checks. Instead of doing what they can to get their club a little better money, they are showing signs of being money mad, the disease that wrecked several championship teams. In Chicago the other day one of the Braves was approached by a photographer. Instead of looking pleasant he demanded a piece of change before allowing said camera man to shoot.

Pitcher Jasper, whom the Chicago American club is trying to transfer to Los Angeles, does not like the idea of going to the Pacific Coast league, and is angling for a Federal league offer.

Old Olson certainly has been a Handy-Andy man for the Cincinnati Reds. Since the start of the season he has played first base, second base and third base, and has performed satisfactorily in each instance. At the start of the season he didn't do so well, but of late he has been playing standard ball.

The Buffed roster is liberally charged with former New York American league players. Members of the Used to Live in New York Society now sporting at the other end of the Empire state are Chase, Loudon, Engle, Blair, Ford and Schuler.

Connie Mack once estimated Eddie Collins' worth as a second baseman at $50,000. Clarence Rowland, White Sox "hot" says Collins is priceless to the Red Sox. "I consider Eddie the best in baseball and with a second baseman."

"Just his example to the other players on the team," said the wonderful baseball instructor.

and of the diamond Eddie Collins is an ideal toward which the other players strive."

McGraw, according to accounts, believes the Reds will finish fourth in the second division, but he hasn't had a good look at the Pirates yet.

In connection with the release of Davy Jones, Rebel outfielder, it develops that Jones received a wad reported at $1,200 for his contract. Jones knew a sprained tendon had ended his baseball usefulness. Oakes did, too. Oakes asked Jones how much he expected to save this season. A figure was named and the deal followed.

Amusements

(Notices furnished by the theatres.)

FOUR VAUDEVILLE ACTS AT THE APOLLO

An act of scenic, singing and musical excellence is Little Caruso, and company which is being presented at the Apollo the latter part of this week. Two girls and three men make up an offering above par. Splendid voices, talented instrumentalists, graceful dancing and unusual scenic effects are all represented.

Spillard Carr and Converse are there when it comes to earning applause. This trio presents a bit of work in which smiles, harmony and hilarity predominate. Their voices are well blended and pleasing to hear.

At Harrington, the crazy janitor, has a couple of dogs that are well trained with their pretended subordination, which gives a comedy touch to the act of Spillard Carr and Converse. A clever bit of singing and dancing.

AT THE APOLLO.

Dustin Farnum on Monday. Bosworth, Inc. in their latest release, "Captain Courtesy," starring Dustin Farnum, offers the public their supreme effort at production. The story is full of stirring incidents and has not a lagging moment. The plot early mission days of 1840, when the Mexicans were in authority, and many scenes of cruelty and bloodshed are depicted. From one of these scenes rises our hero, "Captain Courtesy," who, after his parents have been murdered by the Mexicans, roams the country with a vow in his heart to avenge their death.

He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds up travelers not of his own country, and after relieving them of all that is valuable, presents it to the needy of his own people. He intercepts couriers and takes their dispatches to the enemy. The Mexicans fear him as a messenger of death, and no man will meet him single handed. He strikes to the ground the Mexican who has dared to defy the power of the "Captain Courtesy." He is so courteous and kind to the poor, to women and children, and to the helpless, that he wins the title of "Captain Courtesy." Mounted on an incomparable Arabian steed, and wearing the gorgeous trappings of a Mexican general, which he has forcibly taken from an officer, he scouts the mountain passes, holds DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—Leave It to Father to Fix Things Up Right.

BY F. LEIPZIGER

THE PRICE

BY FRANCIS LYNDE

Illustrations by
C. D. RHODESCopyright by Charles Scribner's Sons.

Together they left the catboat down to its work, sending it ripping through the crested waves and fighting sturdily for every foot of the precious windward advantage. None the less, it was the big schooner, thrashing down the wind with every square yard of its reefed canvas drawing, which was first at the scene of disaster. Through the rain and spume they could see the schooner's crew picking up the shipwrecked passengers, who were clinging to lifebelts, broken bulkheads and anything that would float. So swiftly was the rescue effected that the rescuer had luffed and filled and was tearing on its way down the lake again when the close-hauled Clytie came up with the first of the floating wreckage. The tiller maiden's dark eyes were shining again, but this time their brightness was of tears.

"Oh, boy, boy!" she cried, with a little heartbroken catch in her voice; "some of them must have gone down with her! Can you believe that the Osprey got them all?" And then, with the sweet lips trembling: "I did my best, Kenneth; my very best—and it wasn't—good enough!"

She was putting the catboat up into the wind, and Griswold stumbled forward to get the broader outlook. Suddenly he called back to her:

"Port—port—your helm hard! There's a man in a lifebelt—he's just out of reach. Hold her there—steady—steady!" He had thrown himself flat, face down, on the half-deck forward and was clutching at something in the heaving seas. "I've got him!" he cried, and a moment later he was working his way aft, holding the man's face out of water.

It asked for their united strength to get the gray-haired, heavy-bodied victim of the capsize over the Clytie's rail. They had to bring the lifebelt too; the old man's fingers were sunk into it with a dying grip that could not be broken. At first Griswold was too much preoccupied and shocked to recognize the drawn face with its hardened mouth and long upper lip. When he did recognize it the gripping fear was at his heart—the fear that makes a cruel coward of the hunted thing in all nature.

What might have happened if he had been alone; if Margery, taking her place at the tiller and busying herself swiftly in getting the catboat under way again, had not been looking on; he dared not think. And that other frightful thought he put away, fighting against it madly as a condemned man might push the cup of hemlock from his lips. Forcibly breaking the drowned one's hold upon the lifebelt, he fell to work energetically, resorting to the first-aid expedients for the reviving of the drowned as he had learned them in his boyhood. Once, only, he flung a word over his shoulder at Margery as he fought for the old man's life. "Make for the nearest landing where we can get a doctor!" he commanded; and then, in a passion of gratitude: "O God! I thank thee that I am not a murderer—he's coming back! He's breathing again!"

A little later he was able to leave off the first-aid arm-pumpings and chest-pressings; to straighten the limp and sprawling limbs, and to dive into the cuddy cabin, under Margery's directions, for blankets and rugs. When all was done that could be done, and he had propped the blanket-swathed body with the cushions so that the crash and plunge of the pitching catboat would be minimized for the sufferer, he went aft to sit beside the helmsman, who was getting the final wave-leap of speed out of the little vessel.

"He is alive?" she asked.

"Yes; and that is about all that can be said. He isn't drowned; but he is old, and the shock has gone pretty near to snapping the thread."

"Of course, you remember him?" she said, looking away across the leaping waters.

Griswold, with his heart on fire with generous emotions, felt the cold hand gripping him again.

"He is the old gentleman you introduced me to at the Inn the other day; Galtbraith; is that the name?"

"Yes," she rejoined, still looking away; "that is the name."

Griswold fell silent for the time; but a little later, when the catboat was rushing in long plunges through the entrance to the Wahaskan arm of the lake, he said: "You are going to take him to Mereside?"

"Yes. He is a friend of poppa's. And, anyway, it's the nearest place, and you said there was no time to lose."

Griswold helped the bearers lift the blanketed figure out of the Clytie's cockpit, and while he was doing it, the steel-gray eyes of the rescued one opened slowly to fix a stony gaze upon the face of the man who was bending over him. What the thin lips were muttering Griswold heard, and so did one other. "So it's you, is it, ye murdering blue-eyed devil!" And then: "Eh, man, man, but I'm sick!"

"You heard what he said!" he inquired craftily.

"Yes; he is out of his head, and no wonder," she said soberly. Then: "You must go home and change at once; you are drenched to the skin. Don't wait to come in. I'll take care of your manuscript."

CHAPTER XXII.

The Valley of Dry Bones.

The cyclonic summer storm had blown itself out, and the clouds were beginning to break away in the west, when Griswold, obeying Margery's urging to go home and change his clothes, turned his back upon Mereside and his face toward a future of thickening doubts and unerring possibilities.

Griswold had not deceived himself, nor had he allowed Margery's apparent conviction to deceive him. The old man's mind had not been wandering in the eye-opening moment of consciousness regained. On the contrary, what he had failed to do under ordinary and conventional conditions had become instantly possible when the plunge into the dark shadow had brushed away all the artificial becloudings of the memory page. What action he would take when he should recover was as easy to prefigure as it was, for the present at least, a matter negligible. The dismaying thing was that the broad earth seemed too narrow to hide in; that invention itself became the clumsiest of blunders when it was given the simple task of being a single individual among the millions of unrelated human atoms.

Thus the threat of the peril which might be called the physical. But beyond this there was another, and, for a man of temperament, a still more ominous foreshadowing of evil to come. Of some subtle, deep-seated change in himself he had long been conscious. Again and again it had manifested itself in those moments of craven fear and ruthless, murderous promptings, when kindness, gratitude, love, all the humanizing motives, had turned suddenly to frenzied hatred, and the primitive savage had leaped up, fiercely raging with the blood-lust.

For a long time after he had reached his room, and had had his bath and change, Griswold sat at his writing table with his head in his hands, thinking in monotonous circles.

The tiny chiming clock in his dressing case in the adjoining bedroom had tinkled forth its 10 tapping hammer strokes when he heard voices in the lower hall, and then a man's footsteps on the stair. To a hard-pressed breaker of the traditions at such a moment an unannounced visitor, coming up in the dark, could mean but one thing. Griswold silently opened a drawer in the writing table and groped for the mate to the quick-drying pistol which he had put aside to dry.

The visitor came heavily upstairs, and Griswold, swinging his chair to face the open door, saw the shadowy bulking of the man as he came through the upper hall. When the bulk filled the doorway it was covered by the pistol held low, and Griswold's finger was pressing the trigger.

"Asleep, old man?" said the intruder in Raymer's well-known voice.

There was a sound like a gasping sob, and another as of a drawer closing softly. Then Griswold said: "No; I'm not asleep. Come in. Shall I light the gas?"

"Not for me," returned the odd-time visitor, entering and groping for the chair at the desk-end, into which, when he had placed it, he dropped wearily. "I want to smoke," he went on. "Have you got a cigar—no, not the pipe; I want something that I can chew on."

A cigar was found, in the drawer which had so lately furnished the weapon, and by the flare of the match in Raymer's fingers Griswold saw a face haggard with anxiety.

"What is the matter, Edward?" he asked.

"A mix-up with the labor unions. It's been brewing for some little time, but I didn't want to worry you with it. Unless we announce a flat increase of 20 per cent in wages to-morrow morning, and declare for the closed shop, the men will go out on us at noon. I've seen it coming."

If the god of mischance had chosen the moment it could not have been more opportune for the fire-lighting of malevolence. Griswold's swing-chair righted itself with a click.

"We'll see them in hell, first, Raymer! The ungrateful beggars are merely proving that it isn't in human nature to meet justice and fairness and generous liberality half way. If they want a "cht, give it to them. Hit first and it hard; that's the way to do. Shut up the plant and make it a lockout."

When the Bulk Filled the Doorway It Was Covered by the Pistol

"I was afraid you might say something like that in the first heat of it," said the young ironmaster. "It's a stout fighting word, and I guess, under the skin, you're a stout fighting man, Kenneth—which I'm not. Where are your convictions about the man-to-man obligations? We've got to take them into the account, haven't we?"

"Damn the convictions!" snapped Griswold viciously. "If I've been giving you the impression that I'm an impracticable theorist, forget it. These fellows want a fight: I say give them a fight—all they want of it and a little more for good measure."

Raymer did not reply at once. This latest Griswold was puzzling him, and with the puzzlement there went sorrowful regret; the regret that has been the reanimator's portion in all the ages. When he spoke it was out of the heart of common sense and sanity.

"I know how you feel about it. I don't dare to pull down a fight which may not only shut us up for an indefinite time, but might even go far enough to smash us."

Griswold took his turn of silence, rocking gently in the tilting chair. When the delayed rejoinder came, the harshness had gone out of his voice, but there was a cynical hardness to take its place.

"It's your affair; not mine," he said.

"If you've made up your mind not to fight, of course, that settles it. Now we can come down to the causes. You've been stabbed in the back. Do you know who's doing it?"

"The Federated Iron Workers, I suppose."

"Not in a thousand years! They are only the means to an end." The tilting chair squeaked again, and he went on: "If I'm going to show you how you can dodge this fight, I'll have to knock down a door or two first. If I blunder in where I'm not wanted, you can kick me out. There is one way in which you can cure all this trouble-sickness without resorting to surgery and blood-letting."

"Name it," said Raymer eagerly.

"I will; but first I'll have to break over into the personalities. Have you made up your mind that you are going to marry Margery Grierson?"

Raymer laughed silently, leaning his head back on the cushion of the lacy chair until his cigar stood upright.

"That's a nice way to biff a man in the dark!" he chuckled. "But if you're in earnest I'll tell you the straight-forward truth: I don't know."

"You mean that Margery Grierson doesn't measure up to the requirements of the Wahaskan Four Hundred?" There was satirical scorn in the observation, but Raymer did not perceive it.

WHO PAYS?

WHEN JUSTICE SLEEPS

BY EDWIN BLISS

(Copyright, 1915, by Pathe Exchange, Inc. All Moving Picture Rights and all Foreign Copyrights Strictly Reserved.)

Then, like a flash it came; came with the click of the key in the lock of the door; came with the scent of violets his wife affected. Through the portieres he could see her brother accompanied her. Their voices were lifted in angry controversy but he paid no attention to the words. A fresh panic had seized him as a narrowing problem presented: HOW TO GET THE MONEY INTO THE VAULT BEFORE MORNING?

Where his ruin had meant nothing to him, had left him cold and passionless, this problem presented itself bristlingly. His hands grasped the portieres and he would have flung himself into the living room when he halted abruptly, listening—listening—

"I tell you, Flo, you've got to can it. He's a decent guy, this husband of yours, and I'm strong for him. I wouldn't say a word if I didn't know you were kidding yourself along. I tell you it's getting loosely talked about when a gambler like me hears it. I tell you it ain't possible for a bank teller to live the way Drum lives and support you the way you're supported and be on the up and up. He may have got by up to now—I ain't saying. But he can't get by long with this stuff. I tell you, and I know. I tell you straight you're making, you have made, or you're going to make a thief outa Drum if you don't cut out the merry-merry and beat it to the bushes quick."

"A thief!" Flo's voice rose hysterically. "You've got a nerve talking about thieves, you have! You've got a nerve talking—a reformed burglar—"

The eavesdropper felt something catching in his throat—something that raked his entire body. He snatched the portieres apart, flinging himself between the angry pair.

"I am a thief!" He shouted, then, at his wife's horrified exclamation of protest; over and over again he repeated it: "I am a thief—a thief—a thief—"

"What's the limit, Joe?" he demanded quietly.

"It isn't a limit," choked the teller. "I've got it all—in the next room. I won, Fred, at the last minute. I won it all back. It's in the next room."

"Then what's the kick?"

"I can't get the money back—into the vault. It's got to be there in the morning—first thing. The examiner—you must get it back for me."

Williams drew away sharply as the hidden request was made. A quick shudder of repulsion shook him, but Flo's hand was upon his arm. Suddenly with an oath of capitulation, Fred Williams flung himself away from the woman.

"Hand me the coin," he grated harshly. "Hand it to me quick—before I change my mind." A bitter, grating laugh choked out of him as he pocketed the bank notes. "I'm a bit out of practice, folks, and the job's unprofessional—but—wot t'ell!"

VI.

A long silver of orange light snatched a segment from the darkness. Once—twice—thrice—from a black window of the Fourth National it came, the watchman's signal that all was well within.

Crouching against the wall of the opposite building, Fred Williams carefully, methodically upturned his coat collar and pulled the hat brim low over his eyes.

As the unsuspecting watchman leisurely opened the door, Williams sprang up close behind him, ramming the gun into the small of his back.

"Straight ahead!" he grated. "Don't turn or I'll—"

No need to finish the threat. The watchman marched slowly forward.

Carefully keeping behind the fellow even after he had bound him to the chair, gagged him securely, and tilted his hat brim so low his sight was obscured, Williams heaved a long sigh.

He then swiftly pocketed the revolver and stepped through the president's office to the black vault.

A second he stood before the monstrous, grim barrier, then his delicate hands reached out and touched the nickel combination knobs.

With that chill kiss all thought disappeared, every sense was submerged in the instinct of the skilled workman, back at his job after long absence.

Now and then he paused to pare the tips of his fingers with a razor blade, that their sensitiveness might be accentuated. A long whistling sound came from his chest as the straightened, a thin smile upon his lips. A tickling sound had told him his work was half finished.

Again he bent to the work. He was swift, he was certain, he was sure. And then—

Then, without straightening his bowed back, he leaped aside, his arms instinctively rising to shield his face, his demoniacally twitching face, as he glared at the man who had interrupted him in his work, the president of the bank standing rigidly before him, too surprised for utterance.

Darius Brown's jaws, which had been loosely opened, clicked shut. The sound was audible. Williams had not before been aware that the same terror which had hurled him back before the man had put the automatic into his hand.

Came the glint of Darius Brown's nickel barreled revolver, snatched from his overcoat pocket, as he leaped at the intruder. Williams grasped the wrist of the man, trying to unnerve the fingers that clutched the gun.

For a moment the two men stood there, silently rigid.

Suddenly Williams felt the older man relaxing. He pressed his minute advantage, hurrying his knee forward and up toward the president's groin. An orange spurt of flame, mingling with the deep, thunderous detonation of a revolver split the silence. He leaped aside, crouching toward the weapon he had dropped. Again Darius Brown lifted his revolver, his face twitching convulsively. His knees slowly crumbled under him and he flung up his right hand, the hand with the revolver, to recover his balance.

The motion carried him back a staggering pace. And Williams cowered against the wall as, with that movement, a lurid flame, followed by plumes of acrid, biting smoke, exhaled itself from the vault door, out into the room.

President Darius Brown sagged down—down—sagged within himself like an old, worn-out accordion.

Williams approached. He was cold and passionless now. There was no time, but he could not forego looking at his work. He touched the hand, drawing away quickly as rigor mortis tautened the tendons of it. Coolly he picked up the package of securities which had dropped from the financier's pocket, turning them over curiously as though they were the most important things in the world to him.

They fell from his hands as the squirmings of the bound watchman reached his ears. Snatching the bundle of money from his own pocket he dropped it beside the securities, then turned and fled.

VII.

Fled—throughout the weeks and months; fled—when there was no place to flee; fled—from the voices that betrayed him; from the whispers that accused him; fled—when he prayed he might be captured; fled—from pillar to post, with no objective, with no reason for flight save the fear that impregnated the very soul of him.

A series of flat robberies punctuated his flight.

And then it came. He had not bungled the job. He had felt in advance that he was about to be caught. The plant had been laid for him by the police. His pal had been a stool pigeon.

Joseph Drum and his wife were silently seated in their living room when the haggard, haunted man burst in upon them. Since the tragedy they had been given much to silence. The fear that beset the crackman had not neglected them—the fear and remorse.

"They got me," Williams gasped. "They're wise to me. They nicked me on the job."

Williams laughed hoarsely, creakingly.

"There's no getaway for any of our gang," he muttered, then, his voice growing clearer, something almost prophetic glowed in the bleary eyes; "no getaway for any of us. I can't help running, but to make a getaway. I can't—we can't."

"We left a trail a mile wide," he continued more quietly. "That pearl necklace, Joe! All the coin you've spent! What Fields knows! What everybody knows about your salary! They're alive—those clues, even if a fat coroner does go to sleep on the job. They had a clear case against Brown—and he was dead. But they gotta clear case against us, if they ever start! They ain't no getaway. They ain't!"

He halted, springing to his feet as the elevator cage clanged upon their floor and heavy steps, immediately followed by resounding blows upon the door, woke the echoes of the apartment house.

Crash—the door shivered, then slapped from its hinges before the heavy-shouldered pair who lunged into the room.

"What did he mean—about clues?" Flo whispered fearfully to her husband, an hour later. "Did he mean we might—get caught—?"

Drum sighed heavily.

"What was he running—from—always?" she persisted, dully. "The verdict cleared—everything—so far as any chance of being—caught was—concerned. Why did he run, Joe?"

"Not from man." His voice was leaden. "From the arrows of the Almighty he ran. Haven't you felt them, Flo?"

She shivered, wishing she might meet his eyes—knowing their eyes could never meet as of old.

And that is the real affair of the Fourth National.

THE END.

Monarch's Rebuke.

Charles the Second, for whom the earl of Rochester made this epitaph, "Never said a foolish thing and never did a wise one," could convey a reproach with wit and gentleness. When Penn stood before him, with his hat on, the king took off his own. "Friend Charles," said the Quaker, "why dost thou not put on thy hat?" "Tis the custom of this place," returned the king, "that never more than one person should be covered at a time."

Free distribution at the GAZETTE TRAVEL BUREAU of booklets which beautifully picture the resorts of Northern Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan.

GIFT TERMS

WARNING
Hundreds of readers have secured this book—scores are calling daily. The number is limited. Late-comers court disappointment.

"THE NATIONS AT WAR"

FOR GAZETTE READERS

PUBLISHERS' PRICE $3.00
PRESENTATION OFFER .98

SAVE $2.02

The offer is perfectly clear. To get "The Nations at War" present 3 coupons, printed daily in another column and 98c sufficient to cover usual author's royalties, freight, packing and handling charges—the saving of $2.02 is this newspaper's "presentation to you."

A FAIR, FEARLESS ACCOUNT—STARTLING ILLUSTRATIONS

Though the facts in this work may appear accusatory, bear in mind they are true. The letter and the spirit of President Wilson's neutrality declaration has the author's most profound respect, but facts are facts, nevertheless. No man or woman, either native or foreign born, need fear to read the truth presented in this work.

364 Pages of Gripping Truth, 463 Rare and Startling Illustrations, 20 Color Plates, Instructive Maps, Extra Fine Paper, Clear Print, Handsome Binding.

MAIL ORDERS—By parcel post include EXTRA 2 cents within 100 miles; 12 cents 150 to 300 miles; for greater distances ask your postmaster amount to include for 4 pounds.

Greatly reduced illustration. Actual size, 8x10 1/2 inches

LET THERE BE LIGHT IS PLEA OF WOMEN

Take as Much Interest as Men in Street Lighting Campaign.
By Mrs. Abbie Helms.

There are many things in municipal affairs that do not seem just fitting for womankind to be interested in, but on the other hand there are matters that seem especially within their province. And not only that, but they seem to be more capable in the housekeeping line of civics, than do the masculine contingent. It is intuitive with the female members of the community to want sanitary conditions in food stuffs and supplies, to provide a water supply adequate and pure and to have suitable lighting for its people. Added to that is their artistic love of beauty that brings about the planting of flowers and shrubbery in the parks, and their interest that fosters the playgrounds for their children. The husbands and fathers of the family are too busy hustling to supply the necessary where withal to be able to spare much time and attention on merely the ornamental accessories of life. The men realize in a vague way that we ought to have these things, but it is only when the women come to the front and say "we must have them" that the matter is accomplished.

In olden time the first thing to do when company was expected, was to "trim the lamps." They heeded the advice given by the virgins that their lamps should be trimmed and burning. And the housewives always had that feeling. They were glad to supercede the old fashioned candles which they made painfully by their own handwork with the sperm oil lamps and then by the petroleum lamps. They welcomed the gas light which lessened their labor in the home and increased their means of illumination.

The women of a community have always been interested in the lighting of its streets. They realize that there will be less of the tough element and the "mashers" hanging about street corners if there are lights enough so the police can keep track of their movements. They know that there will be less "spooning" on shady benches in the park when an adequate lighting system is installed therein. But when the proposition in the city was first planned, it was with the idea of having the lighting fixtures installed by the property owners and many of them felt that the project was a little out of place. The whole city to benefit by the better lighting and the property owners to pay the expense of putting it in place. Now that the plan has broadened to have the whole expense of installation to be borne by the city, the women feeling that they are interested and should have a voice in the affair. There are many women taxpayers in the community who have large holdings. And besides these, it would seem as though every household would feel the need of better and more adequate lighting. If the women had been consulted in regard to the present system they would have told you that it was very wasteful and inefficient to have a single glimmer of light far up above the street with its rays divergent and lost amid the foliage of the trees, before it reaches the sidewalk. They would have told you "to place light where it was needed, and as close to the sidewalk and road to be lighted as possible." But this advice was not asked and though they realized that the present system was about as efficient in illuminating the streets as would be a swarm of fireflies in lighting a meadow still they could not interfere unless asked to do so. Now that an opportunity is offered them they have received the new scheme of lighting with enthusiasm and are placing their names on the roll as endorsing the movement. Mrs. J. R. Nichols in behalf of the Civic League has this matter in charge and those wishing to sign the petition to the Mayor and common council asking that the old up-to-date posts be installed, will find the document at the Nichols store on South Main street.

An appropriate motto for this movement and one that the housekeeper could heartily endorse would be those few lines from the good old gospel hymn:

"Let the lower lights be burning,
Send their gleam across the way."

Orfordville News

Orfordville, June 25.—J. B. Oliver of Broadhead, was in the village for a short time on Friday morning.

K. N. Grunwald transacted business at New Glarus on Friday.

A large delegation of school officers went to Janesville Friday to attend the convention of school boards.

Joe Flint of Hanover transacted business in Orfordville on Friday morning.

The regular monthly meeting of the village board was held on Friday evening.

An informal discussion regarding the railroad company's property on Beloit street was done.

Mr. Megordon went to Minnesota and will spend some time visiting with her daughter, who resides there.

Peter Elston of Hanover, was an Orfordville visitor on Friday morning.

The Jersey cattle that Col. Lowden of Illinois recently purchased at the Brown Bessie farm were loaded and shipped from the local yards on Friday afternoon. They were accompanied by Mr. Laity, Mr. Lowden's man.

The highway commissioner has commenced grading the west end of Beloit street. The grader is being used and is being propelled by a steam tractor, which has been hired for the purpose.

The old school house building is fast being razed. The walls of the old part are already down and men are at work on the north wing. A large amount of material, both timber and brick, will be secured for use in the new building.

CHANGE ADVERTISING FOR LORD KITCHENER'S NEW 300,000 ARMY

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, June 26.—When the last call for 300,000 men was issued it was "Lord Kitchener wants men" and "Kitchener's army" that the big advertisement called to public attention. Since the Northcliffe papers criticized this part of the recruiting campaign, there has been a change in the advertising. The reference now is to "the King's army" and the "God save the King" which was in large type at the bottom of the first advertisements is now in large type at the top of the recent ones.

SIXTY COUPLES AT THE SENIOR PARTY

Annual Dance is Entertained by New Steps—Hatch's Orchestra—Furnished Music.

The annual senior party, given by a committee selected from the senior graduating class of 1915, was given last evening in Assembly hall, sixty couples attending. The number was much smaller than in past years, at least a hundred couples having attended this big event on other similar occasions. New steps were introduced by some of the more experienced, and a good time resulted. Refreshments were served during the evening. The Hatch orchestra of seven pieces, with the xylophone, furnished delightful music.

TRINITY CHOR BOYS CAMP OPENS MONDAY

Annual Outing to be Held as Usual at Mirror Lake, Near Delton, Wis.

On Monday the choir boys of Trinity church start on their annual camping trip and go to Mirror Lake, Delton, Wis., near the Delta of Wisconsin. This has been proved a favorite camping spot with the boys and they are looking forward to a pleasant two weeks' outing. Boating, swimming, fishing, hiking, etc., will be the main occupation of the boys. On the Sunday in camp they will sing the service at the little village church in Delton.

Mrs. Anna Mosher, Miss Laura Mosher and Miss Gertrude Kolie will preside over the culinary department. The Rev. Henry Willmann as steward, Harry E. Ranous in charge of the boys.

Safety First

Chicago & Northwestern R. R. The men in the store room department are busy rearranging the bins and getting the material lined up correctly.

James Cummings, machinist, has been sick and was forced to retire from work for a few days.

Dan Courtney has taken out the agency for a hand cleanser and has made a few sales to his shop friends.

A number of the boys left this morning for Chicago to witness the Sox there today. They are Stanley Barrett, Joseph Smith, James Cummings, James Wilson and Archy Cunningham.

Engine 47 was sent to the Chicago shops Friday for repairs.

Engine 1880 is back on the run after undergoing light repairs at the local shops.

Fireman Traxler is relieving Fireman Jesse on 555 and 578.

Engineer James Spohn is laying off for a couple of days and Engineer Gestlin is relieving him.

The local shops now have on hand two hundred and forty five bad order box cars for repair. Another installment was received yesterday.

G. E. Fraunfelder and F. F. Strand attended the Safety meeting at Chicago Wednesday.

The Chicago & Northwestern on June 5 put in service a lunch counter in connection with its "Gold Special" train, which leaves the Chicago passenger daily, except Sunday, at 12:20 p. m., and reaches nearly a score of golf clubs located along its route. The lunch counter is located in the north car between Chicago and Waukegan. Returning the train reaches Chicago at 7 p. m. The car will be ready to serve a high grade lunch at popular prices at 12 noon, 30 minutes before the leaving time of the train, and thus will be a great convenience to the patrons of this train. The car contains a lunch counter running lengthwise of the train and occupies the rear end of the car, except for a short kitchen at one end. Seats are provided for 27 persons.

Although a multitude of writers have enormously exaggerated the extent of the network of strategic railways in the German Empire, it is a fact that Germany has built a railway anything like such a large railway mileage mainly or entirely with a view to its utilization for offensive purposes. If any country is in the future to be able to hold its own in the world, it will represent a constant menace to the peace of the world. It is true that Germany's defeat will mean that a large proportion of the railway lines will pass into other hands, the unification of Poland and the restoration of Alsace-Lorraine to France, meaning, incidentally, the loss to the German Empire of railway mileage. But these territorial changes will not in themselves prevent Germany from laying down a network of strategic railways to convenient points on the new frontiers. If the allies were determined to smash Prussian militarism, they will have to take account of this matter, as well as of armaments and the like. Among the great powers, Germany has for years past built railways with the definite and deliberate purpose of aggression. It should be the task of the allies to see to it that the terms of peace contain provisions that will at least check this kind of preparation for war in the near future.

C. M. & St. P. R. R. The order has been issued to the engineer department of the road for a new water tank at this point, but no definite time has been set for the erection. The old tank is in very bad order, and has been standing for some time. The new tank will probably be steel and will sit back on the hill, back of the site of the present tank. The water will then be conducted to stand pipes in the yards and the other on the main line.

Engine 1530 from the Beloit Gravel pit and 1157 from Rockford, have arrived at the local roundhouse for repairs.

A. J. Kellmer, associate district master mechanic, was in the city for a short time yesterday.

Harry Laudan, the faithful caller at the roundhouse, has taken a few days vacation and is spending it at Delavan. The boys are looking for some interesting tales from Harry on his return.

Mert Kaleher who has been bring on 75 for some time, is spending the week end at his cottage in Lake Koshkonong with his family. Every one at the local shops is looking for a big fish dinner on Mert's return.

Roundhouse foreman Allen spent Thursday at Milwaukee, where he was called on account of business.

District Master Mechanic A. Young, and General Boiler Maker Foreman A. Lucas, were in Janesville for a short time Thursday, stopping here on their inspection tour.

Instead of the time honored greeting "Take One," the traveling public may expect to see "Pay for One" on the receipts of the railroad. It is contemplated that a move in contemplation by some of the railroad carries.

Thousands of those circulars are issued annually. They are said by Milwaukee officials to cost the railroads, it is believed, would be willing to sell them at 5 cents each.

"The public has no idea how many of these circulars are carelessly torn or otherwise destroyed without being used at all," said an official. "Were something charged for them they would be better appreciated."

Children's Weekly Story

By Paul Holmes.

WINSOR SPENDS A NIGHT IN THE OPEN.

Winsor Thorngate, with the look of a martyr upon his face, was seated on the top step of the porch, resting his chin on one hand and darning his socks with the other. He had been called about in a manner portraying extreme disgust. Only a short hour before he had been called from the barn where he and Harold had been playing circus, and a tub in a measure prepared him for the ordeal he must undergo, unmercifully scrubbed and then forced inside of a starched shirt, tan stockings and patent leather slippers—all because his mother was going to "some old hen party," as Winsor expressed it, and he had to make his appearance because there was no place to leave him.

With parting injunctions about not going off the sidewalk if he went out doors, not climbing any trees, and so forth, his mother might have said to get ready. And thus we find him upon the porch, ill-tempered and provoked because he had been robbed of an afternoon fun. The push, white collar was uncomfortable, to say the least. It chafed his neck and seemed to have a desire to choke him. He rubbed his head, and ran his fingers around it in vain effort to make it at least allow him to breathe.

"Oh! Darn it all!" he finally broke out, as he became convinced of the futility of his endeavor. He looked at his watch. It was ten o'clock. "Winsor!" came a horrified voice from the region of an upper window. "Winsor Thorngate, I am surprised at you. Come here at once."

Instantly the culprit wished that he had been more prudent in his remarks, but it was too late. Prepared for the worst, the boy slowly arose and scudded hesitatingly into the house. He did not appear to care for some time, for the reason that he had been sentenced to sit in a chair for fifteen minutes, so that he would have ample time to learn how to control his tongue. The punishment, however, did not have the desired effect. Winsor occupied the time in wondering what on earth he could do to amuse himself at the party. The instant that he saw the clock held about two miles out in the country, and the name of the hostess was Mrs. Rawlinson. The boy knew that there would be no children, but there would be play with, and that the hired man was cranky and wouldn't let any body go in the barn. How he wished that he didn't have to go. Then he could take the twenty cent car.

In due time the allotted fifteen minutes expired, and he went out on the front porch again. He had hardly resumed his former position before a knock drew him into the house. Mrs. Thorngate, with two or three hat pins in her mouth, and her coat half on, rushed out on the porch to impart information that she would be ready in a minute. Then she called Winsor into the house, wipe a speck of dirt from his forehead with her handkerchief and smoothed down a wave of hair. All the while she was advising him as to behavior and etiquette.

It was some time over a minute when they were at last crowded into the carriage. Winsor was squeezed in between two women whom he did not know, and with a jolt, the journey was begun.

The ride was an exceptionally uninteresting one. The women talked of things that Winsor could not understand and which would not have interested him if he could. He was cramped for room, and seldom got a breath of fresh air. He was spoken to only once and that was when his mother told him to blow his nose. He couldn't get to his handkerchief but one of the women kindly supplied him with one. It was pure tissue and the unexpected odor set him to coughing.

"How many times have I told you to turn your face away from people when you cough," his mother admonished.

Considering that there were people on all sides of him this feat was manifestly impossible. If Winsor and Mrs. Genevieve Walker, of the "Lark Brigade," it is probable that he would have quoted certain parts of it. As he had not, he accepted the rebuke meekly and said nothing. Some curious other relative stopped and there was a general rush for the door. Winsor was nearly smothered.

FULTON CENTER

Fulton Center, June 24.—Miss Cecilia Flarity of Edgerton spent several days here with friends last week. Mrs. Genevieve Walker and Mrs. O. P. Murvin went to Waukegan, Canada, on Monday of last week to visit relatives.

Miss Genevieve Chamberlain returned from a visit at Chicago with her sister and other relatives.

The Nichols twins are spending the week with Lillian Anderson.

Miss Frances Ingle of Janesville visited friends and relatives here Sunday.

Mrs. Cannon of Janesville and Miss Pollard spent a portion of the week with Mrs. Wm. Cox.

Ethel Scofield took part in the Rock county spelling contest at Janesville high school on the 22nd. Twenty-nine schools were represented. After winning first place.

Master Robert Johnson of Fond du Lac spent part of last week with his grandmother, Mrs. G. W. Coxhead.

Mrs. Peter Scherschel of Juneau came Thursday to visit her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Boltes.

A number of the Fulton Y. M. C. A.

in the bustle that accompanied the customary search for wraps and other articles. But at last he reached the open air.

After being introduced to a number of ladies he was left to his own devices. First he essayed to climb the windmill, but the hired man made him come down. Then he tried to make friends with a large dog that was chained to a post. The dog only growled at him. He wandered in doors and looked at the clock. It registered halfpast six.

"Oh hungry, mamma," he called.

"Why, Winsor!" came a gasp from the other room, "Haven't I told you "Here, here," some one interposed, "let her be the little fellow something to eat."

"No, Mrs. Rawlinson," his mother remonstrated, "He can wait and eat with the rest of us."

"Oh, Winsor!" came a gasp from the other room, "Haven't I told you

There was an ominous rustle of dresses in the other room. Then his mother was beside him, and what she said was brief and to the point. Winsor went outside again, immediately.

He was utterly depressed. There was absolutely nothing to do. The sun was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

He was nearly out of sight in the west, and lights were visible in the barn. The lights told him that the men were milking and toward them he walked in his way. He did not have long, however, for he was not accustomed to a late supper, and his stomach prompted him to go back to the house. Accordingly, he started, on the run, toward the front door.

Dependability versus Ingenious Claims

MORE than 75 Concerns now manufacture Tires. We believe that everyone of these makes as good Tires as he knows how, at the lowest cost his experience, Equipment and Methods make possible.

We believe that the average Tire Manufacturer is fair in his treatment of Adjustments, and that few deliberately misrepresent their product, either verbally or in print.

We believe that no Tire Manufacturer can afford to make statements in print about his product, which statements cannot be borne out by the performance of his Tires, in actual use.

We believe that the Tire has never been made which will not "Rim-Cut" if run "fast" for any considerable distance, and that many makers, including ourselves, have always produced Tires that would not otherwise "Rim-Cut."

We believe that the "Double-Cure" process, common with a great many Tire Manufacturers under different names, adds unnecessary expense to Tire Cost, which expense the Methods of the Goodrich Factory eliminate through its Precision "Single-Cure."

We believe that the cutting out of needless expenses like this (which our Precision Methods save) constitutes one of the strongest reasons why the largest Rubber Factory in the World (Ours) produces the greatest Mileage—per Dollar of Cost—in its Tires.

And "The PROOF of the Tire is in the Mileage thereof."

PROLONGED SESSION HAS GAINED NOTHING

HAS MERELY GIVEN VARIOUS ELEMENTS OF OPPOSITION AN OPPORTUNITY TO WORK.

BALKS ADMINISTRATION

Gov. Philipp's Program Endangered as a Result of Dilatory Tactics Says Milwaukee Writer.

By Ellis B. Usher.

Milwaukee, June 25.—The week's news from Madison is not reassuring. One well posted and experienced man who started out warmly to back Governor Philipp, told me yesterday, that the administration forces are without organization. Another equally friendly person, who has seen many Wisconsin legislatures, said: "The governor doesn't take anybody's advice, and nobody can influence him." However, much of truth there may be in such statements, it is evident, even at this distance, that the administration program is floundering and likely to be frustrated. The best thing now likely to happen, and that is bad enough, is a prolonged and wrangling session, with the Governor hanging appropriations up by the ears, and the legislature, in a mere and bad temper, conflict. This will result in ultimate good, though it postpones the day of hope for the taxpayers, but that ray rarely went glimmering more than a month ago.

Opposition Elements Busy.

The alarms that sounded from Madison this week of perils that confronted the efforts for reform, have been justified. The general policy of this long legislative session has, from the start, been first to arouse as many possible elements of opposition as could be stirred up with a mere and bad temper, conflict. This will result in ultimate good, though it postpones the day of hope for the taxpayers, but that ray rarely went glimmering more than a month ago.

Opposition Elements Busy.

The alarms that sounded from Madison this week of perils that confronted the efforts for reform, have been justified. The general policy of this long legislative session has, from the start, been first to arouse as many possible elements of opposition as could be stirred up with a mere and bad temper, conflict. This will result in ultimate good, though it postpones the day of hope for the taxpayers, but that ray rarely went glimmering more than a month ago.

Taxpayers Forgotten.

It has not seemed likely that this session could be taken entire and in detail, both with a first few minutes of a new state administration and successfully grappled, and the sequel, after almost six months of sparring for place, is therefore, not at all surprising, that the new administration want to break into this citadel of self-sufficiency, and get seats at the table, their program may be comprehensible. Otherwise the fellow who alone hunting for the new state, if he is a wary, build a fire that corners the beasts of prey in the forest so they must all fight desperately for their lives. Professor McCarthy is not the only example of the impetuosity of the new administration, to be found in this legislative campaign. There are many others who are equally certain to slip through this new drag-net of reorganization. It begins to look as if the serious question for the taxpayers may be "Where are we at?" or "Whither are we drifting?" It may be about time to inquire whether Wisconsin is merely up against new schemes or is confronted with large and hopeless incompetency. One thing appears inevitable, after all these months of waiting, and that is that the taxpayers will be forgotten in the shuffle. They will continue to pay, and pay an increasing amount.

I do not say this because I enjoy it, quite the reverse. I say it because it seems to me that the time has arrived when somebody ought to "ring the bell." The history of "Billy" Basman has never been written, so a state employee told me, significantly, "not long ago. Why can't the men who really want to do what the people want them to do, to Madison to accomplish, as a little shrapnel, if it is absolutely necessary? The people are quite weary of being patronized and cajoled by their salaried employees. They will smash humbug some day, and do it with a trip-hammer.

Effect of the Jitney.

The jitney is having a distinct effect upon the street railway business in Milwaukee, and also, a distinct and disagreeable effect upon the safety of pedestrians. At busy hours it is difficult, if not dangerous, for a person to get to a car, so considerable is the congestion caused by the jitneys, which are required to halt and not pass a standing car. So far Milwaukee has failed to regulate this traffic and many daily accidents result. So far the net result to the public is to slow down street railway traffic and encourage an irresponsible and in many ways dangerous encumbrance of busy thoroughfares. In fact, if not most of the jitney cars now running will drop out as they wear out or prove unprofitable. One driver told me, the other day, that the big cars do not pay, because of the running cost. The little five passenger cars can make wages, according to this chap, but he may have been "handing it to me" for his was a small car. One thing that seems altogether probable as a result of the jitney furore throughout the country, is that lines of electric coaches will be established in many cities to reach residence routes not actually touched by street car lines, but that the jitney in its present unregulated shape is a nuisance and a menace to morals and life is certain.

National Sports.

National sports are characteristic of national character. Golf, tennis, and other competitive sports of the nature are universal and cannot be described as the national sports of any one country, although Scotland is the native land of golf and still largely devoted to it. Baseball is a game that could find its inception only in America. It is also a modern game, its development belonging distinctly to the close of the nineteenth and the beginning of the twentieth century. "Turner" or gymnastics is a relic of the "factions" love of order, precision, and organization, therefore the national "sport" of Germany, one might say, is the development of the body by this means, although track and field athletics have attained a moderate degree of association football. The ebullient French nature finds that fencing, and on a smaller scale, boxing and cockfighting, gratifies most satisfactorily its desire for lively recreation. While fencing is by no means what can be called the national sport, it is one at which the French, who, in a strong, favor it, easily excel. While association football is indubitably England's national sport, other competitive games find evidence there, as in America, in Russian sports are in a limited sense of the word, practically unknown. The Scandinavian nations combine, very successfully, the German system with other traits, and allied Latin countries, but rights best, with the fiery, naturally, brutal semi-tropical love of excitement, for which, as an instinctive proclivity, its possessor can hardly be held responsible. The soul of the Japanese is expressed in jiu-jitsu.

Hereditarily strong in sports, but environment is stronger. The American-born German, Frenchman, or Swede inherits a predominating, if unconscious, predilection for the sports of his native land over those of others, but did you ever see an American youth, no matter what his descent, who does not prefer baseball or football or tennis to "going through the motions?"

Gossip About the Erie.

The directors of the Erie are about to issue a booklet to let the stockholders see what the development of the road has been during the past decade. The Erie, which has been doing big things, and the time is only a few years off, it would be here now if general business had been good, when this road will be paying dividends.

AMERICAN INFLUENCE IN EUROPE'S WAR

Looked Upon as Power For Good by Sufferers of All Nations.

The American nations, with the exception of Mexico, have enjoyed such a long era of peace and prosperity that few can remember the country ravaged by war; thus the appreciation of the aid sent to the citizens of flame-swept Europe can scarcely be realized by the opulent and sleek peoples of the western hemisphere. Before the fall of a famous Galician fortress even cats, dogs, rats and emaciated horses sold for almost fabulous prices to the starving, then imagine the good work done by the American relief ships which have sailed forth laden like argosies to these sufferers.

Rules of war compelling the devastation of fertile areas by flooding, the burning of all crops before the advance of the enemy and the foraging of the huge armies for wherewithal to keep them alive in times of stress, soon produced the woe of an empty larder in the fighting zone.

Yet, just as the citizens of Messina returned to live at the base of their volcanic mount, as soon as the molten lava ceased to flow, so do these women strive to eke out their existence in lands where even crows would now starve, and to them the gifts of foods, clothing and other necessities were priceless.

The United States government placed at the disposal of committees great sea-going vessels to carry these contributions safely to port, and food, medicines and hospital supplies, as well as many volunteer doctors and nurses were sent from this shore to the scene of Europe's struggle.

CLINTON

Clinton, June 25.—Archibald Pye and wife of Des Plaines, Ill., were here to attend the funeral of his aunt, Mrs. I. W. Wheeler.

Rev. H. Benson of St. Louis was here Monday to visit his former parishioners.

Dr. George I. Kemmerer and wife of Waukegan, Carroll college, are visiting his parents.

Mr. Charles Eucker of Milwaukee is visiting his brothers, Otto and Anton, north of town. Mrs. Eucker and daughter will come out later.

Rev. W. P. Leek, wife and daughter of Beloit were here Wednesday calling on old friends and neighbors.

Sixteen of our local Baptist people attended the district convention of that church at Beloit this week.

La. L. Gies of Madison was here yesterday afternoon, combining business and pleasure. His numerous old friends and neighbors are always glad to see him.

Miss Beatrice Kizer accompanied her uncle, W. D. Kizer, to his home at Winchester, Indiana, yesterday morning.

Mr. Horace Wilcox of Beloit is visiting at the home of Solon Cooper, Matt and Charles Lathrop of Beloit, Charles Kallans of Sharon and Charles Tallman of Delavan were here Wednesday in consultation with our local democratic politicians.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bean, a fine boy, Wednesday.

A new cross walk has been put in at the corner of Main and Cross streets on east side of Main. It is the most used cross walk in town and a new one will be appreciated.

A large number of our people are wondering where the necessity comes in or public good of allowing the schools to keep open an hour later Saturday night, which the village board contemplates.

It rained all around Clinton yesterday, north, south and east, but not a drop here.

Mrs. Hannah Stoner is at the Stoner cottage, Assembly grounds, Delavan Lake.

Arthur Stoner and his brother, Earle Hare and Homer Kizer motored to Janesville and Delavan yesterday.

The United Workers of the Congregational church will serve one of their celebrated suppers at the church parlors Friday evening.

Union Sunday school picnic July 1. All business houses will close. Ev.

everybody should attend.
Mayor W. H. Hughes and Robert Simmons motored to Madison yesterday.

Milton Junction News

Milton Junction, June 25.—The Eastern Star met Wednesday night. Cary Brown of West Allis is visiting his grandmother, Mrs. C. A. Thiry. A. M. Hull has been to Indiana this week on business.

Dr. Zena Gilbert of Melrose is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Gilbert.

Miss Hazel Chatfield is working in Janesville.

Mr. O. Anderson is entertaining his nephew, Francis Olson, of Poplar Grove.

Mrs. Mabel Cliff of Beloit is visiting Mrs. Geo. Stone.

Mrs. Maggie Rowers of Chicago has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Anna Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hull and Miss Alice Hull attended the high school commencement exercises at White.

Elmer Parker of Battle Creek, Mich., has been visiting his cousin, Mrs. Robt. Carr.

MAGNOLIA

Magnolia, June 25.—Mrs. Dawson Mayford is critically ill. Mrs. Florence Wolcott is helping care for her.

The ice cream social at the hall Tuesday evening was attended by a large crowd.

Mrs. Robert Harper and three children of Kimball, South Dakota; Mrs. T. T. Harper and Frank Van Skike and two children took dinner and supper with T. M. Harper and son Wednesday.

Mrs. Harper and son Wednesday and Master Robert and Miss Marjorie Van Skike stayed for a longer visit.

The weather the past few days has been ideal for alfalfa hay.

George Bishop was a Janesville caller Thursday.

Tobacco plants are a very scarce article in this locality and some have been obliged to cut down their intended acreage on that account.

Robert Van Skike is assisting his uncle, T. M. Harper, in farm work.

Whitewater News

Whitewater, June 25.—Great preparations are being made by the Congregational people and also those of other churches for the celebration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the Congregational church. It is to last three days, beginning Saturday at 10:30 a. m., with a union Sunday school parade. Following is the program:

Today, 10:30 a. m.—Union Sunday school parade ending at the city park.

12:00 m. Picnic luncheon followed by speeches and games.

3:30 p. m. Registration of guests and informal reunion at the church.

4:00 p. m. Organ recital and other music by former musicians of the church.

5:30 p. m. Address of welcome by T. M. Blackman. Response by J. C. Birge.

7:30 p. m. Historical meeting. There will be a summary of the first fifty years, followed by the historical address by Rev. E. C. Barnard. Letters and stereoscopic pictures of old time members and scenes.

Sunday, 10:45 a. m.—Anniversary service. Sermon by Rev. Robert Hopkins.

10:05 p. m. Sunday school exercises. Letters and talks from former leaders with brief address by Rev. J. E. Saries.

9:00 p. m. Reception of members and communion.

7:30 p. m. Fellowship meeting. Greetings from Rev. C. I. Andrews, M. E. church, Whitewater, and Rev. L. H. Keller, state superintendent, Madison, with response from Congregational church.

Monday, 10:30 a. m.—Women in the Whitewater church. Papers and talks by Mrs. E. T. Cass, Mrs. D. O. Kinsman, Mrs. D. S. Cook and others.

1:30 p. m. Meeting of Beloit association.

2:00 p. m. Installation service. Charge to the people, charge to the pastor, President E. D. Eaton, D. D., prayer of installation Rev. F. W. Stevens; sermon, Rev. W. A. Rowell.

6:00 p. m. Supper with informal toasts. Rev. W. L. Lewis, toastmaster.

7:30 p. m. The Church and the World. Addresses by Rev. F. T. Lee, D. D., Rev. J. E. Saries and Rev. T. N. Shpherd of Milwaukee.

Miss Margaret Parks has been a guest at S. L. Taft's for a few days.

She has been teaching the past year at Billings, Montana. She goes from here to visit relatives in Racine.

Miss Alice Hull of Milton Junction returned last evening after spending a couple of days with relatives here.

Miss Anna Taft went this morning to visit friends at Cedar Lake. Miss Verna Lean, formerly of Whitewater, is included in the party.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Banker were here for commencement and guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Kumlien. Mr. and Mrs. Banker have been at Hinkle, Minn., the past year, and next year go to Havre, Montana.

John Hurlbut of Chicago, is here visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Hurlbut.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Dunn have returned to their home in Fond du Lac after a two weeks' visit with relatives here.

A coarse piece of forgery was committed here last Saturday evening by some crook a little acquainted with the vicinity hereabouts. The party visited the saloons after the banks were closed in an endeavor to cash a check and succeeded in cashing three for the amount of fifty-eight dollars each. He claimed to have been working for W. Ryan out on the prairie and wanted some money. Geo. Lindsley and Frank Bliesath were two of the losers; the third party would not give his name. The forger had ample time to get away as the checks were not taken to the bank until Monday and found to be no good. It was a busy time of the evening when the checks were cashed and neither party would recognize him again.

The baseball team goes to East Troy Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bloodgood and H. S. Bloodgood of Harvey, Ill., and Mrs. Frances Van Duser of Kisselme, Florida, are visiting their brother, S. W. Bloodgood and family.

The Masonic bodies of this city celebrated the festival of St. John the Baptist last evening. The O. E. B. served a six o'clock dinner and the literary program was given, which a number of friends were invited. Attorney F. H. Kiser, president, and the principal address was given by Past Grand Master N. M. Littlejohn, who, in spite of his 92 years, gave an eloquent discourse. The other speakers were: Prof. A. A. Upham, Prof. J. C. Redd and F. R. Bloodgood. Music was furnished by Mrs. John Scholl, Miss Merton Fish, Phil Trautman and readings by Miss Margaret Waldie.

PLYMOUTH

Plymouth, June 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Julius Lehman and children spent Tuesday with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, of Spring Valley.

Mrs. Sarah Van Buskirk and daughter, Edith, of Iowa, are the guests of relatives here.

Monday morning when Charley Damitrow called his hired man it was found that he had gone, also, $15.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Stewart spent Sunday with Mrs. Stewart's brother, Robert Creebie, and children, town of Beloit.

Mr. and Mrs. John Emerson were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lett Emerson, near Janesville, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Eldridge, river road, and Mrs. Mary Emerson and daughters of Beloit, Sunday.

Mark Ryan spent Sunday at Harvard, Ill.

Miss Etta Royce entertained Miss Grace Jones and gentleman friend, Arthur Solobowsky of Beloit and Clarence Horkey of this place Sunday afternoon and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Rinehimer were guests at Mr. and Mrs. Hendrickson's of La Prairie, Sunday.

Vernon Rinehimer is assisting in building a barn near Albany this week.

Mrs. Gust Borkenhagen and daughter, Mary, of Afton, spent Sunday at Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kettie's.

On Wednesday evening about fifty relatives and old friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Arnold and gave Mrs. Sarah Van Buskirk her 72nd birthday. A dainty supper was served. Those who attended from away were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Arnold and son Roy, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Condon and son Arnold of Brodhead, Mrs. Flora Perkins of Beloit, and Mrs. Christian Felmy of Parkersburg, Iowa. A very enjoyable evening was spent.

Little Miss Mildred Horkey spent Tuesday and Wednesday with her grandmother, Mrs. Carey, of Janesville.

Mr. and Mrs. John Emerson and nephew, Edward Pettit, and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Royce and sons attended a show in Janesville, Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Hendrickson, Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox and daughter Leta were Wednesday evening callers at Mr. and Mrs. Charley Rinehimer's.

Howard Newton of Beloit spent Sunday at Hub Royce's. Plymouth, June 25.—Regular afternoon services will be held at the Plymouth M. E. church Sunday, June 27. Sunday School begins at a quarter to two. Let all the boys and girls, and young men and maidens, and all the rest come to Sunday School. Preaching service at 2:30. Sermon by the pastor. Subject: A Sunday well spent. There will be preaching in the evening also. The hour is eight o'clock. The pastor will speak on "The Secret of Success" at our evening preaching service. A collection is taken, the same to be applied on our District Superintendent's Claim. We gladly welcome all to our services.

ALBION

Albion, June 24.—Messrs. Robert Haugen, Leo Lund and Will Ford, accompanied by their lady friends, spent Sunday at Fort Atkinson, making the trip in a launch.

Mrs. John Ford, Jr., of South Wayne, Wis., is spending a few days at her parental home.

A number of young people from this vicinity attended the dance at Grover Olson's, Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Morton Pierce are the proud parents of a baby boy, born Wednesday, June 23d.

The Young Ladies' Educational club met at the home of Miss Elsie Thomas, Monday afternoon.

Marjorie Bliven discussed the Panama-Pacific exposition very completely. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Edna Emerson.

Sidney Green, who has been attending Milton college, the past year, is home for his summer vacation.

Miss Hazel Emerson, who has been teaching school near Janesville, is home for the summer.

Mrs. Edgar Stebbins and family spent one day the past week at her parental home.

ONLY A FEW CAN GO.

Those who are so fortunate that expense does not have to be considered are now going to health resorts to get rid of the impurities in the system that cause rheumatism, backache, swollen, aching joints and stiff, painful muscles. If you are one of those who cannot go, yet feel that you need relief from such pain and misery, try Foley Kidney Pills. They restore the kidneys to healthful activity and make you feel well and strong. W. T. Sherar.

The Grand Prize Highest Honor Panama-Pacific Exposition Just Awarded to the UNDERWOOD TYPEWRITER

The Latest Proof of Typewriter Superiority

"The Machine You Will Eventually Buy"

YOUNG AND OLD IN GERMAN HOME KNIT SOCKS FOR MEN AT FRONT

A scene such as this one is not at all uncommon in the countries stricken by the war. This picture was taken in one of the picturesque hamlets of the Spreewald on the outskirts of Berlin. The natives of this part of the country are descendants of a very ancient race, the Wendes. They still speak among themselves the ancient language of their ancestors. At a very early age they train their children in household industries. This custom now shows its real value to the country, for the young children together with the older women knit stockings for the men at the front.

PHYSICIAN SHOWS WHY YOU MUST NOT BE SENT TO FRONT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, June 26.—The inadvisability of sending very young men to the fighting front is emphasized in a report by Dr. Murray Leslie on the treatment of cases of mental shock resulting from war service. Nearly all the cases of fighting affecting the mind have been in men of 21 or 22 or younger, declares Dr. Leslie, who suggests that this may be the reason for the recent German order that no more volunteers under 21 will be accepted for the army.

Dr. Leslie divides cases of battle shock into two classes, those who have been constantly subjected to shell explosion and have no actual injury, and those suffering from neurasthenia. The first kind of case is characterized by a curious stupor, frequently patients are oblivious of all their surroundings. The neurasthenic cases require prolonged treatment and it is regarded as a great mistake to send them back too soon. The writer points out the possibility, as the war progresses, that these cases of war shock will become frequent also among the population at home. "The censors know what they are doing when they suppress the gruesome details and pictures of Zepplin raids. Such action is most important to keep up the morale of the nation, and is perfectly right from a medical point of view. Optimism is of the greatest value to the nation as well as the individual. The feeling that all is going well is a great mental tonic."

CENSORSHIP PREVENTS DETAILS BEING PUBLISHED OF AIR CRAFT RAIDS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
London, June 26.—Since the censorship has shut down on the publication of the details of the visits of German aircraft, London is full of daily rumors that spread all over town. There has been no general criticism of withholding the locality of the raids as it may be helpful to the Germans to hear where their bombs dropped. But suppression of details has had its customary effect and every day there are reports of raids that never happened and of destruction that never took place. In fairness to the censors it should be admitted that while their facts when published are meager they are regarded as true by the delay in issuing them is hopelessly needless from a newspaper point of view. In the case of the worst raid, happening around midnight, the facts were not published in time for the regular issues of the afternoon papers of the following day. Meanwhile rumors had piled on rumors and the man in the street was prepared to hear that hundreds had been killed.

FRENCH GOVERNMENT WILL TAKE RADICAL STEPS TO STOP SALE OF ALL DRUGS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Paris, June 26.—The government has decided to take as stringent measures with cocaine and morphine as with alcohol. A radical decree reinforcing the existing laws against illicit traffic in them is expected from the Minister of the Interior shortly. A serious feature of the evil that the "coco" as it is called, has found its way into the army and navy. The immense profits on the traffic tempt the unscrupulous to risk the few months of prison the law prescribes. A gramme of cocaine costs them 2 cents and they sell it at from 40 cents to 60 cents. The police are continually after them, but even when they are caught they sometimes slip through some loophole in the law. The government has decided to close every loophole now.

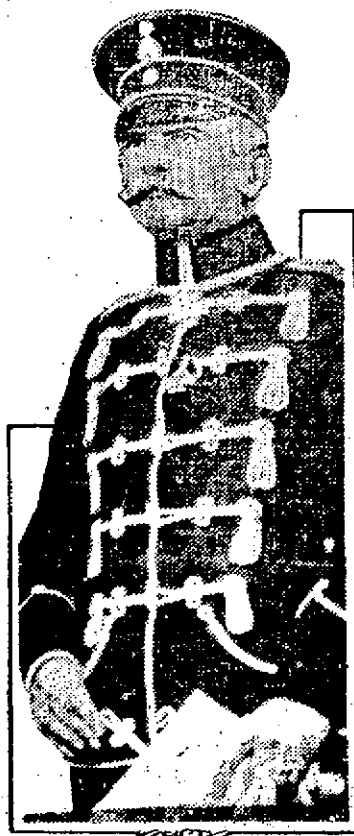

STORY OF CONVICTED COWARD WHO TURNED HERO IS RELATED

London, June 26.—The story of a convicted coward who turned hero during the fighting around Ypres is told by Professor J. H. Morgan, who spent five months at British Headquarters and whose investigations were summed up in the Bryce report on German atrocities. He has just returned to London. He says: "There was a sergeant who had lost his nerve and had been sentenced by court-martial to five years' penal servitude for cowardice. Before the sentence could be carried out, the Prussian Guard made their famous attempt to break through our line, and the sergeant, in the fighting which ensued, fought with such bravery that but for being actually under arrest at the time, he would have been awarded the Victoria Cross. As it was, his sentence was quashed and the incident was responsible for the passage of a new act of parliament, by which a sentence on a soldier may be suspended and the man given an opportunity of redeeming his character."

CHINESE GOVERNMENT ADOPTS QUEER DEVICES OF OBTAINING LOANS

Peking, June 26.—The Chinese Gov-

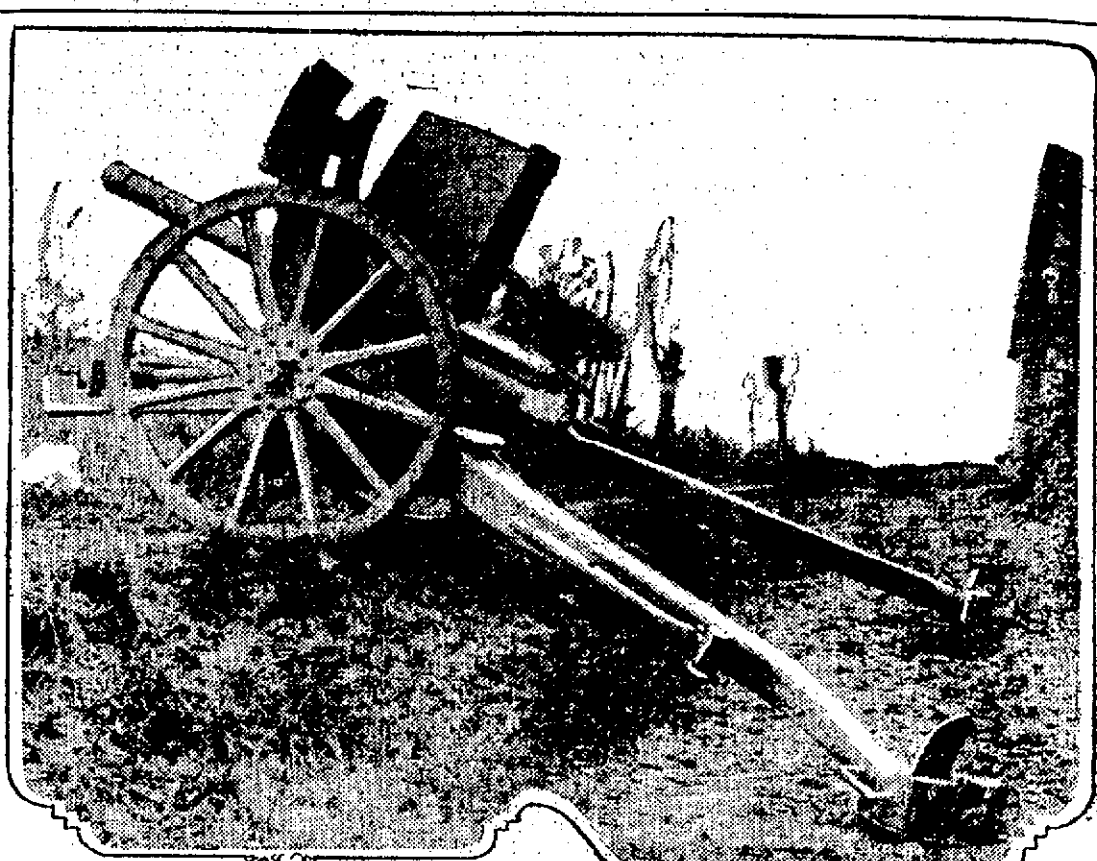

HAILED AS HERO BY THE GERMANS

General von Mackensen.

Following his great victories over the Russians in Austria, General von Mackensen is hailed in Germany as one of the war's greatest heroes. It is rumored that after he has completely routed the Russians he will turn his attention to Italy.

ITALY'S NEW 75-MM. GUN IS LAST WORD IN FIELD ARTILLERY

The new Italian field gun, invented by Colonel Deport of the French army.

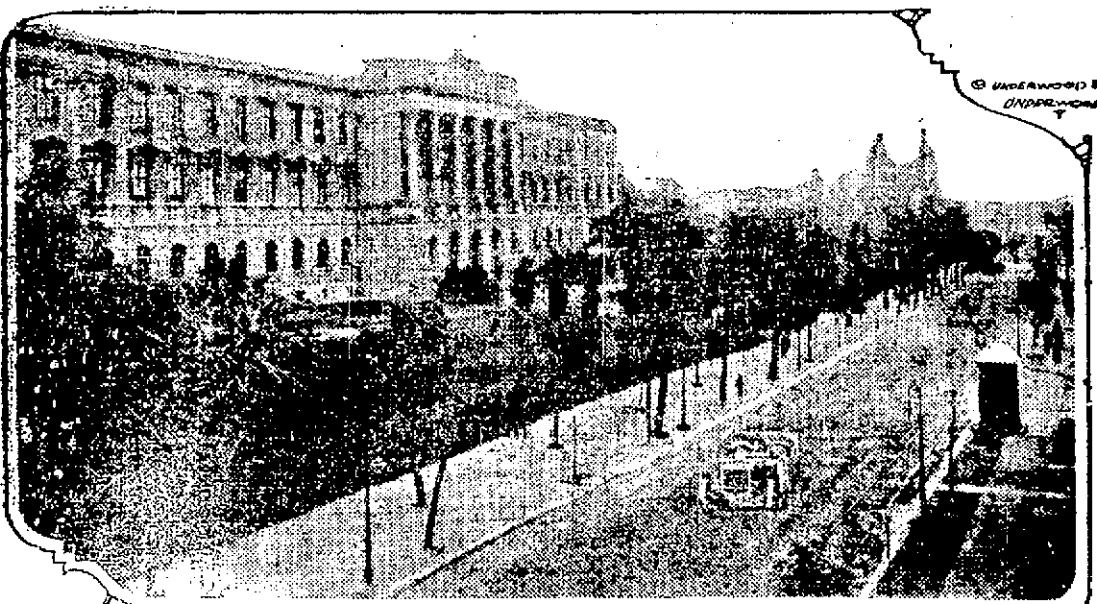

The Italian field batteries have recently been partially armed with a 75-mm. gun of the Deport pattern. The mechanism of this gun was invented by Colonel Deport, who was the principal designer of the 75-mm. French service gun, which has earned such great praise in the western theater of the great war. The Deport gun is remarkable for its lightness when compared with the weight of its shell power. The gun fires a 16-pound shell and weighs with its shield slightly under a ton.

ALLIES LAND AT DARDANELLES UNDER WARSHIP GUNS

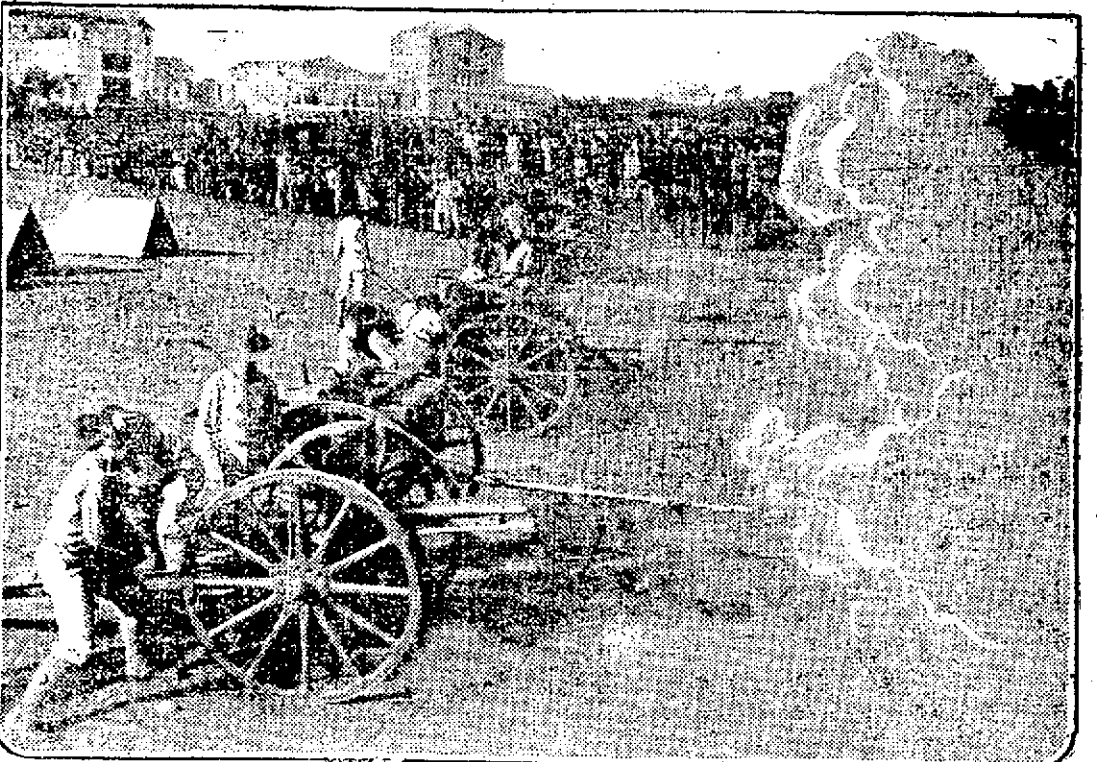

Indian troops marching away from the beach to take up their camp inland; Australians carrying supplies up hillside after landing at Gaba Tepe.

LAST BIG CITY IN GALICIA LOST BY RUSSIAN INVADERS

Lemberg, its principal street and house of parliament.

MARINES SHOW WHAT THEY CAN DO BEFORE GOING TO MEXICO

Shortly before leaving for Mexico United States marines stationed at San Diego, California, showed visitors to the exposition in that city what they could do in the way of handling artillery. Picture shows the marines at maneuvers and also shows some of the guns which they took with them to Guaymas.

ernment has been adopting peculiar devices for the purpose of obtaining loans from the Chinese people, since it is impossible during the European war to obtain them from abroad. Besides introducing a lottery system in order to obtain investments in the National Savings Bank, they are now offering decorations to merchants and others who will buy the "domestic bonds" which the Government is issuing. The purchaser who buys several thousand dollars worth of the bonds receives a sixth class or seventh class decoration; he who buys more receives a fifth class; and so it goes up to very large sums, in which case special decorations, something new and hitherto unprovided, are granted to the men who trust the Government with hundreds of thousands of Mexican dollars.

WAR OFFICE WILL ALLOW PRISONERS TO WORK ON FARMS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
London, June 26.—The War Office has announced to farmers its willingness to allow prisoners of war to be employed on farms near detention camps.

"Run Away From 'Nerves.'"
No one can help feeling nervous at times in this age of rush and racket, but it is quite possible to put on the brake, as it were, and not let the nerves run away with us.

If people fret you, it is not necessary to be rude to them. Try, instead, to avoid them.

Don't read books that irritate you. Books are plentiful, therefore put away the offending volume and choose another.

If a noise at night worries you, don't let it continue to do so. Get up and see to the matter and put it right.

Don't let yourself get into the habit of being bored. It is not worth while. When you feel it coming on plunge at once into some task that will take all your time and energy. It is better to run away from certain things than to let them irritate you. Such martyrdom is usually unnecessary and bad for you all round.

Quick sellers—Gazette want ads. Read the want ads, carefully. The bargain you are looking for may be there.

"I LIKE THIS VILLA BETTER THAN the ONE in MEXICO!"

General Huerta at his villa on Long Island.

General Huerta, one time dictator of Mexico, is finding much pleasure in peaceful pursuits at his pretty home on Long Island. He finds it more pleasant, and much safer, to mow a lawn in America than to run the whole government of Mexico.

DO YOU WANT WORK OR HELP? HAVE YOU SOME THING TO SELL? CAN YOU DO DRESS MAKING? HAVE YOU A HOUSE TO RENT? WOULD YOU BUY HOME BAKING? WOULD YOU LIKE COUNTRY PRODUCE? DO YOU WANT SOME CUSTOMERS? NO MATTER WHAT YOUR DESIRE—

TELL IT THROUGH THE GAZETTE

THE WORLD IS FULL OF PEOPLE WHO WANT TO RENDER SERVICE AND CAN NOT FIND ANYONE TO SERVE WHILE AT THE SAME TIME THERE ARE MULTITUDES OF PEOPLE WHO CAN NOT FIND PEOPLE TO SERVE THEM. THE UTILITY OF TELLING IT THROUGH THE GAZETTE SHOULD BE REALIZED BY ALL.

THE RATE FOR ADVERTISE.
 MEN'S is the classified column is one cent per insertion. Nothing less than 25c accepted. Cash discount 25 per cent if paid at time order is given. Large accounts 1 cent per word.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

WHEN YOU THINK OF insurance, think of C. P. BEERS. 1-23-17.
 IF IT IS GOOD HARDWARE, Mc Namara has it.

RAZORS HONED—25c. Premo Bros. 27-17.
FOR GOOD GOODS Talk to Lowell. 1-15-30-17.

RUGS RUGS RUGS

Cheapest thoroughly. Sized. Made New. Phone 321 and 1148. C. F. Brockhaus and Son.

LAWN MOWERS SHARPENED and repaired. Premo Bros., 21 No. Main St. 4-10-17.

SHOE REPAIRING—Work called for and delivered. Chas. Eckhart, both phones. 1-6-4-17.

SITUATION WANTED, Female

Announcement of those needing work and unable to pay will be inserted three times free of charge.

YOUNG LADY Stenographer, experienced and A1 record, wants responsible position where work is not heavy. Helen Porter, City. 3-6-26-27.

SITUATION WANTED, MALE

Announcement of those needing work and unable to pay will be inserted three times free of charge.

POSITION WANTED—Young man 28 years of age, thoroughly experienced in sporting goods business, desires to make a change. With Kansas City House as Asst. Manager four years at present is connected with large sporting goods store in Chicago. The position of assistant buyer. Will accept position with responsible retail or wholesale firm in any line, there ability and integrity will be considered. Cashish, first-class references. Address "Permanent" care the Janesville Gazette. 2-6-26-27.

FEMALE HELP WANTED

WANTED—Housekeeper, family of three. Address "Housekeeper" Gazette. 4-6-25-27.

MALE HELP WANTED

WANTED—Man over 30 years old to travel for us this summer, making the towns: Janesville, Palmyra, Ft. Atkinson, Lake Mills, Deerfield, Madison, Oregon, Stoughton, Evansville, Beloit, Glen Bros, Rochester, N. Y. 5-6-26-27.

SALESMEN WANTED

WANTED—Chicago Manufacturing Firm opening branch house in Rockford, Ill. Will require services of a few high grade salesmen. Must be men of ability, clean record, able to give bond and willing to work. Commission basis with liberal drawing account. Knowledge of farm conditions desired, but not essential. New automobiles, furnishings, etc. as soon as they prove themselves. Address Sapo Chemical Company, Rockford, Ill. 5-6-26-27.

AGENTS WANTED

WE STRIVE to keep from this page all unreliable firms. Let us know if you answer a fake. We will prosecute.

WANTED, MISCELLANEOUS

WANTED—To buy outside closet. (all old phone 1391. 6-6-25-27.

WANTED, MISCELLANEOUS

WANTED—Pasture for young cattle. Russell Clark, Rte. 3; new phone 5552 F. 6-6-25-27.

WANTED, MISCELLANEOUS

WANTED—To hire for the summer, horse for light farm work. R. C. phone 1802 White. 6-6-25-27.

WANTED, MISCELLANEOUS

WANTED—Plain sewing—prices reasonable. Old phone 1719. 6-6-24-27.

WANTED, MISCELLANEOUS

WANTED—Roomers. 961 old phone. 6-6-21-27.

WANTED, MISCELLANEOUS

WANTED—Carpet cleaning. Phone or call. Janesville Rug Co. 6-6-25-27.

WANTED, MISCELLANEOUS

WANTED—Light housekeeping rooms. 402 E. Milwaukee St. 6-6-23-27.

WANTED, MISCELLANEOUS

WANTED—Suite of three rooms, furnished complete for light housekeeping, 4 blocks from Myers Opera House. Independent entrance. 306 Milton Ave. Bell phone 1105. 8-6-19-17.

FOR RENT—Modern 4-room flat, 220 Oakland Ave. 45-6-23-27.

FOR RENT—Steam heated flat, 515 Grubb. 45-6-19-10-17.

FOR RENT—Flats, 429 Madison St. 45-6-9-10-17.

FOR RENT—Steam heated flat, facing park, $15 per month. New phone 472. W. B. Conrad. 45-6-16-17.

FOR RENT—Strictly modern, five-room and bath flat. Every convenience. Rent reasonable. H. J. Cunningham Agency. 6-14-10-17.

FOR RENT—The finest modern apartments in the city. A. J. Cunningham, agency. 45-6-12-27.

HOUSES FOR RENT

FOR RENT—Desirable home near in, owner leaving city. Will divide house to suit parties. M. H. Gage of Gazette. 11-6-24-27.

FOR RENT—Small house centrally located. Inquire 111 Locust St. 11-6-24-27.

FOR RENT—A few cheap houses, also two modern houses close in. A. V. Hall. Both phones. 11-6-15-17-19.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY

COOK, BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES EVERYWHERE. Good locations in Every State. If you are interested in a real live retail enterprise, a big profit payer and a business that will develop and grow from the start, with small capital needed, we have just what you are looking for. Address Opportunity, care this paper. Now is the time to start. Ask for our book, Free. 17-6-24-27.

GENTLEMAN with little capital for legitimate business.

27 Gazette. 17-6-25-27.

EXCHANGE AND BARTER

TO TRADE—I have Janesville property. Will trade for Ford automobile. Address Ford, Gazette. 34-6-5-17.

PAPER HANGING

PAPER HANGING—A specialty on all grades of paper. All work guaranteed first class. Paul Davenport. Bell phone 688. Rock Co. 825 Rad. 635 So. Jackson St. 3-6-3-26-27.

SUMMER COTTAGES

FOR RENT OR SALE—Pleasant summer cottage on lake. Bell phone 756. 40-Sat. 6-12-13-28-29-31.

FOR RENT—Cottage up the river. New phone. B. P. Crossman 50-25-27.

FOR RENT—Cochrane cottage on Lake Koshkonong near Hoard's hotel. During month of July. Inquire C. E. Cochrane, plumbing shop, both phones. 40-24-27.

FOR RENT—Cottage at Lake Kegonsa. Inquire H. D. Murdoch, Janesville, Wis. 11-6-18-27.

PLANTS AND SEEDS

FOR SALE—Tobacco plants. Farm next to Harmony Town Hall, Peter Mork. 23-6-28-31.

FOR SALE—Spanish tobacco seed. Bell phone 521. 23-6-28-31.

FOR SALE—Late Holland Cabbage and Celery. A. H. Christensen, 1207 Ruger Ave. 6-25-26-27.

FOR SALE—Broadleaf cornstalk Spanish tobacco plants, from or in steam beds. Bell phone 5072 Black. 23-6-25-27.

FOR SALE—Tobacco plants, ready for setting. Old phone 5074 Red. 23-6-24-27.

FOR SALE, MISCELLANEOUS

CHERRIES and currants. Order now. W. Knipshild. Old phone 1449. 13-6-23-27.

FOR SALE—35 acres hay. Inquire J. G. Scobie, Magnolia Road. Both phones. 51-6-23-27.

FOR SALE—Cheap—One phaeton. Buchholz make; also small side saddle and bridle. Inquire 120 Cherry St. R. C. Phone 526. 13-6-25-27.

FOR SALE—3 cement hitching posts, low price. Will P. Sayles, 622 Court St. 13-6-24-27.

FOR SALE—Old newspapers, 5 cents a bundle. Gazette Office. 13-6-14-17.

FOR SALE—Large warehouse hand truck, 7 feet long, 3 feet wide, hauling heavy barrels, rolls of paper, etc. Cost $25.00, price $10.00. Gazette Office. 13-11-13-17.

FOR SALE—Strong soap barrel, all so ink barrels. Gazette. 13-2-24-17.

FOR SALE—Complete map of Rock County, showing all roads, lakes, houses, churches, towns, villages, cities, railroads, farms with number of acres and all information. Printed on strong bond paper, handy size. Price $2.00, extra strong field atlas. Price $3.00, or free with a year's advance subscription to the Daily Gazette. 13-6-24-27.

BOWLING AND BILLIARDS

FOR SALE—New and second-hand carom and pocket billiard tables, bowling alleys and accessories, bar fixtures of all kinds. Easy payments. "WE TRUST THE PEOPLE." The Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co., 275-277-279 West Water street, Milwaukee. 16-6-8-17.

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

WISCONSIN FARM LANDS FOR SALE. AN EXCELLENT 40-ACRE FARM only 3 1/2 miles from town, on state road; good clay and sandy loam, all under cultivation, now in corn, potatoes, clover, oats, small field alfalfa. Good 8-room house, basement barn, 20x30. A good home and a decided snap. $2400; $1200 cash. Elmo O. Johnson, Spooner, Wis. 33-6-25-27.

FOR SALE—My residence property, 311 W. Washington street. This is one of the best locations in the block. Good neighborhood. J. T. Ford. 23-6-15-17.

I OFFER FOR SALE—At a very reasonable price, my thoroughly modern house on Carrington street, adjoining Sewell. Whitehead's new home. Furnace, bath, hardwood floors, barn, sewerage in and streets paved. Fine outlook. J. S. Field. 33-3-23-17.

PAPER TOWELS AND FIXTURES. Sanitary and economical for schools and public buildings, factories, work rooms, etc., indispensable for the kitchen, 25c per roll. $9 case of 50 rolls. Gazette Printing Dept., Phone 77-4 Ring Bell, 27 Rock Co. 15-12-17.

HORSES AND CARRIAGES

FOR SALE—One good work team, cheap or will exchange for heavy horse. Russell Transfer Line. 26-6-24-27.

AUTOMOBILES

FOR SALE—Ford touring car, $200. Ford delivery car, $150; Cadillac touring car, $275. Bugas Garage. 18-6-25-31.

FOR SALE—Cheap, $7,000 touring car in good condition. Inquire at 822 Beloit Ave. 15-6-25-31.

BUICK MODEL 24, special Raceabout, run 9000 miles, five new tires and complete equipment. Guaranteed in perfect condition. Price $500.00. C. A. McCombs, Clinton, Wis. 19-6-25-31.

FOR SALE OR TRADE—Racing car complete, with four extra tires. Will make 75 miles an hour. Will demonstrate. This car will make a good sport-about roadster. What have you to trade? Address Jas. W. Menhall Auto Co., Beloit, Wis. 18-6-22-27.

BICYCLES

FOR SALE—Bicycle, nearly new. Call evenings R. C. 887 White. 37-6-25-31.

HIGH GRADE BICYCLES. C. H. Cox. 48-12-30-17.

PREMO BROTHERS for Bicycles. 48-11-28-17.

POULTRY AND HOUSEHOLD PETS

OPPORTUNITY—Wanted 1000 persons to raise Belgian Carneaux pigeons at $1.50 per pair. Write for full information. Pleasant Hill Pigeon Farm, South Bend, Ind. 26-6-16-10-17.

LIVESTOCK

FOR SALE—Cow and calf. J. F. Newman, Black Bridge road; both phones. 21-6-22-27.

FOR SALE—Two choice—full blood Guernsey bull calves. W. M. Runage. Tel 609, Orfordville. 21-6-13-27-28-29-31.

FARMERS' ATTENTION

FOR SALE—Second-hand Bemis tobacco sifter. Two second-hand gide delivery rakes. Nitscher Implement Co. 60-6-21-27.

WANTED—Mason work and cement work, all work guaranteed. Arthur Stone. Old phone 1065, 1133 South Cherry St. 60-6-7-17.

CEMENT BLOCK SILOS are the cheapest. My figures will surprise you on all kinds of cement work. Arthur Stone, 1133 South Cherry St. Old phone 1665. 60-6-2-dif.

AUCTIONS.

SEND FOR FREE BOOKLET—Entitled "Auction Sales and How to Prepare for Them," containing a lot of useful information on getting up an auction and the arrangement of details. A post card will bring it. Address The Janesville Gazette. 64-9-12-27.

LOST AND FOUND

LOST—Court House Park Thursday evening, bronze vanity purse, valued at $1.00. Leave Skelly's book store or 712 Milwaukee Ave. 25-6-26-27.

MISCELLANEOUS

IF THE PERSON who by mistake placed a package containing a pair of shoes in the wrong automobile Wednesday will call at the Gazette and pay for this advertisement, information will be given to secure their recovery. 27-6-26-27.

BINDERS AND MOWER SICKLES repaired and ground. Alvin and Heller, 65 S. River St. 27-6-23-27.

LAWN MOWERS SHARPENED and repaired. Premo Bros., 21 No. Main St. 4-10-17.

FOR RENT—Room suitable for work or repair shop, with office; central location, $15 per month. Address "Shop," Gazette. 27-6-11-17.

IF YOU HAVE anything which you want to advertise in a way that will be put before one of the richest agricultural communities in the north-west, place it in the White Rock Journal, the "Home Paper" of Roberts County, S. Dak., Richland County, N. Dak. and Traverse County, Minn. Address White Rock Journal, White Rock, S. Dak. 5-25-imo.

ASHES HAULED, sand and gravel delivered. Henry Kaylor. New phone Blue 797. Old phone 1693. 27-9-12-17.

REAL ESTATE, Loans and Insurance.

J. E. KENNEDY
 Sutherland Bldg. Janesville, Wis.

FOR PROMPT ATTENTION

Phone us your order for all kinds of drayage, moving, freight and baggage hauling. Household furniture and piano moving a specialty. We have nice dry storage for all kinds of goods.

WM. WARD & SONS

Drayage & Storage
 Office at Baker's Harness Shop, Old phone 163. New phone Blue 380.

Cotton Waste

1, 5, 10-lb. packages for automobile owners.
 50-lb. bales for shop and factory use.
BICKNELL MFG. & SUPPLY CO.

DR. JAMES MILLS

Specialist
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat.
 GLASSES ACCURATELY FITTED.

Dr. A. L. Burdick

Practice limited to diseases of EYE, EAR, NOSE AND THROAT
 Glasses of all kinds accurately fitted.
 Suite 221 Hayes Block.

DR. EDITH BARTLETT

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
 Office hours: 1 p. m. to 5 p. m.
 Both phones in office. Residence phone 973.

THOS. S. NOLAN,

LAWYER
 Suite 205, Jackman Building, Janesville, Wis.
 Office closed every Saturday afternoon

Patent Attorney

RICHARD S. C. CALDWELL, formerly of Morsell & Caldwell, Patents, Trade Marks and Copyrights. 815 Majestic Bldg., Milwaukee, Wis.

PIANO TUNING

If you want your piano tuned or repaired call me up either phone.
Geo. T. Packard.
 Both Phones.

Dooley & Kemmerer

REAL ESTATE AND LOANS
 26 No. Bluff St. Both phones 69.
 Residence Phones: Rock Co. 12; Rock Co., Black 1009.

BUGS, APHIS OR INSECTS

Use Paris Green, Arsenate of Lead, Kenyon's Killbug, Bordeaux Mixtures. We can tell you which one or how. Badger Drug Co., Corner Milwaukee & River Streets.

For Sale or Trade—Eighty-acre farm two miles from city limits. All level land, buildings nearly new. Owner will trade for house and lot and carry the balance on the farm.

JOSEPH FISHER, Central Block.

SCOTT & JONES

New and Second Hand Safes for Sale
E. T. FISH GOOD LUMBER

SCOTT & JONES

You can't get away from it, good lumber pays.

Dressed or undressed lumber of any kind here and always at the very lowest market prices.

Call us for wood and kindling.

P. H. Quinn & Co.

Prompt Delivery. Office Wall Street.

BRANCH OFFICE FOR GAZETTE AT BAKER & SON

For the convenience of its patrons and the public generally, the Gazette has established a branch office with J. P. Baker & Son, Drug Store, corner West Milwaukee and Franklin streets.

Copy for classified advertisements, orders for papers, subscriptions and matters of this nature, as well as items of news, may be left at the Baker Drug Store, and will receive the same prompt attention as if they were sent direct to the office.

Collars for Convicts.

One of the latest reform schemes at Sing Sing is that of letting prisoners dress up on Sunday. "One of the men was wearing the first white collar he had worn in ten years," Assistant Warden Johnson is quoted as saying. "And he spent the whole of Easter morning telling how good 'it felt.' It is said that now, if the men can afford it, they may on Sunday go as far as they like, even to silk underwear and fur overcoats."

LEGAL NOTICES

BOARD OF REVIEW.
 City of Janesville.
 Public notice is hereby given that the Board of Review of said City of Janesville will meet at their office in the City Hall on the 6th day of July, 1915, at 9 o'clock a. m. for the purpose of reviewing and examining the assessment roll of real and personal property in said city, and sworn statements and valuation of real and personal property, therein, and of bank stock, and of correcting all errors in said roll, either in the description of property or otherwise.
 J. P. HAMMARLUND, City Clerk.
 Dated Janesville, Wis., June 26, 1915.

OFFICIAL NOTICE.

Street Assessment Notice.
 Published by the authority of the Mayor and Council of the City of Janesville, Wisconsin.
 Office of City Clerk.
 Janesville, Wis., June 15, 1915.
 To Whom It May Concern:
 Notice is hereby given that the final reports of the Board of Public Works on improving Milton Avenue from St. Mary's Avenue to the city limits, by paving with a 23 foot center brick roadway, also south bluff street between Oakland Avenue and city street by paving with asphalt macadam, and otherwise improved at the expense of the real estate to be benefited thereby, were filed in my office on the 15th day of June, 1915, and that the Council of the City of Janesville, at a meeting thereof to be held in the council chambers in said city on the 25th day of June, 1915, at 3 o'clock p. m., will consider said reports and hear all objections which may be made thereto and determine what portion of the cost of the improvement, if any, shall be paid by the city at large.

APPLICATION FOR SALOON LICENSE.

STATE OF WISCONSIN.
CITY OF JANEVILLE.
 To the Honorable, the Mayor and Council of the City of Janesville: I, the undersigned, Herb W. Wooster, a full citizen of the United States of America, and of the State of Wisconsin, and a resident of said city, hereby makes application to your honorable body for a license for the sale of strong, spirituous, malt, or in intoxicating liquors, in any quantity, for the year ending the first day of July, 1916.

The place where said applicant desires to sell such liquors is described as the room or space within the outer walls of the store or room situate on the ground floor of the building known as No. 13 N. Franklin street in said city, and the said Herb W. Wooster hereby offers the bond required by the statute signed by myself as principal and by Philip Reus, and H. C. Bergman as sureties.

HERB WOOSTER.
 Dated at Janesville, Wis., this 25th day of June, 1915.

I hereby certify that the foregoing application in writing was filed in the office of the Clerk of said City of Janesville in the State of Wisconsin, this 25th day of June, 1915.

J. P. HAMMARLUND.
 City Clerk.

NOTICE OF HEARING.

STATE OF WISCONSIN.
 County Court for Rock County, In Probate.

Notice is hereby given that at a Regular Term of the County Court to be held in and for said County, at the Court House, in said City of Janesville

Interesting War Incidents From a London Newspaper

Janesville people receiving papers from the belligerent countries find extremely interesting articles in every issue. Of course, the news in most all cases favors the particular country from whence the periodical came. Of particular interest is a resume of a London newspaper received at the Gazette's office.

Lt. Commander J. C. Wedgwood, R. N. V. R., Member for Newcastle-under-Lyme, who was wounded at the Dardanelles, has returned to Jorlaston, Staffs. In an interview he described the landing in Gallipoli and the exploit of the River Clyde, which has been styled the "British Wooden Horse of Troy."

He was in charge of a squadron of armoured motor-cars, but when the entrance to the Dardanelles was reached, it was found that they could not be used, owing to the difficulty of landing. Lt. Commander Wedgwood and his men, therefore, mounted their maxims aboard the River Clyde to cover the landing party. Pristling with guns on deck and crammed full of men in the hold, the ship moved to "V" beach, between Cape Helles and Seddel Bahr, with a string of smaller craft following in an eerie silence which presaged the storm of shot and shell to follow.

An attempt to land was made. As the vanguard reached the shore the infantry and machine-guns poured lead on them like rain. The fire was then turned on the smaller craft, and the troops, to save themselves, jumped into the sea, but there they became easier targets. Three hundred men gained a foothold ashore, covered by the machine-guns of the River Clyde. They held on, but at a tremendous sacrifice. General Rapier and his brigade-major both fell, and many more officers shared their fate.

Secure Their Position.

All this time the foe was invisible. It was not until dusk that real progress was made. Then 1,200 Munsters and Hampshire got ashore, and the strip of beach from the water's edge to the rise in the ground was taken. This position was held at great cost, but eventually the Queen Elizabeth and other vessels came to give assistance.

Three thousand French troops landed the following day and afforded relief to those who had held on so tenaciously. They needed it, for Lt. Commander Wedgwood, like many others, was without sleep for three days and nights. "Queen Lizzie," as she is affectionately called, and supporting warships wrought great havoc in the surrounding country, and permitted the consolidation of the ground gained.

During the next few days progress was steadily made, and Lt. Commander Wedgwood began operating with his men and a number of Naval Brigade. On the road to Krithia at night hand-to-hand conflicts took place with cries of "Allah." The Turks advanced time after time to break the invaders' lines, and on each occasion were thrown back.

Mr. Wedgwood vividly recalls a great bayonet charge by the Senegalese delivered in the moonlight just before day. He praised highly the French, who covered his own men before Krithia with the persistent fire of their "75's" and as for the Austrians, he places them amongst the finest troops of the world. The Turks, he said, were a force which must not be lightly reckoned with.

A fortnight after landing Lt. Commander Wedgwood was shot in the thigh near Krithia, and after an operation was removed to Malta.

...

The determined use of incendiary bombs by Zeppelin commanders makes it desirable to know what precautionary measures were taken to guard against fires that may break out in houses as a result of those barbarous engines.

The bombs are filled with "thermit," a mixture of powdered aluminum and magnetite iron oxide, a powerful in its effects that it generates a heat of more than 5,000 degrees Fahrenheit, and, of course, sets fire to anything that it touches. It would almost seem that against a weapon so deadly no precaution can be taken by the ordinary householder would be of much avail. Yet there is one simple precaution—namely, water, and plenty of it.

Fires caused by incendiary bombs may be prevented from spreading, regardless of the high temperature generated at the actual seat of the outbreak, if water is promptly applied in fair bulk, force, and continuity—say from a series of buckets energetically thrown, or hand pumps vigorously worked.

"Sand or loose soil similarly thrown might be useful in the absence of water, but it would not have the necessary cooling effect. The application of single buckets of water, single shovels of sand, and so on, would be comparatively valueless; a concentration of the available liquid first aid fire appliances being required to obtain the necessary result."

In other words, it was explained, the ordinary householder should have several buckets of water standing on each floor, and to meet the eventualities of water mains not working, he should keep his bath and copper, or washtub, filled at night with a reserve of water. For larger establishments, a greater number of buckets should be employed, and the householder should, perhaps, invest also in one or two hand pumps.

Avoid buying powder extinguishers; hand grenades, or similar small appliances, says the paper, for they are valueless, for high temperature fires. Water, and plenty of it, is better than anything.

Precautions On Approach.

Whenever definite information of the approach of Zeppelins is received, the following precautions are advised: Close all doors, windows and shutters. Switch off all electric lights and turn off the supply at the main switch.

Extinguish, if time permits, all open fires above the basement level. Don't wait until a fire occurs to find the best way out in the dark. Think of a couple of ways out beforehand. If there is dense smoke from a fire, remember that the air is clearer near the ground. Therefore, crawl on the floor, with a handkerchief, wet rag, or towel in front of your mouth. Don't run or shout. Keep calm as an example to others.

Escape From Gas Bombs.

With regard to the possible use of gas bombs, it was explained that the advice given by the police to householders to keep doors and windows closed, is of the utmost importance. It should be remembered that the gas, as that are used are generally heavier than air, and are thus liable to creep along the ground.

For the ordinary layman to use a mask or any other but the simplest form of respirator in the case of gas involves, it was added, certain risks. To use either safely experience and force of character are necessary. As the gas would probably be invisible, nothing would be more natural, for example, than for the inexperienced to raise the mask to give some words of direction to those about them, and in that unguarded moment the poisonous gas might very likely be inhaled.

A better plan, it is thought, if a gas bomb should explode very near at hand, and it seems impossible to skip out of the affected area, is to get quickly upstairs, as the higher one ascends the greater should be the chance of escape from the influence of the poison. The simplest form of respirator and perhaps the most effective, is a pocket handkerchief soaked in soda.

The "Trench Gazette," a publication issued at the front, has this light-hearted reference to the respirators: "For the information of those who haven't yet seen the respirator, we will first of all give a brief description of this useful article, for it has many uses, such as for cleaning rifles, bayonets, etc., or it might even be used as a pair of bathing drawers."

"It is a square patch of material stuffed with stinking cotton waste, the object being that the stink in the respirator will fight and defeat (we hope) the stink of the gas. The way to use it hasn't yet been quite decided, but I will attempt to describe one of the many ways invented by the famous Dr. Tinsmith. On the word, 'Put on your respirator,' dash out of your dug-out—not forgetting to upset everything and everybody in doing so—open the bag and take out the instrument of torture, clap it on your face and proceed to bind it tightly until you feel like a strangled rabbit. Then you are ready to meet all the gas the Germans or the officers like to give you."

Now comes the vital question: where must you keep your respirator? The pocket, hat, equipment have all been tried, but have all been discarded in turn. The neck, is now being tried, and it certainly has one advantage: it is better to die of strangling than of suffocation.

"May we offer a suggestion to solve the problem of making the men get their respirators on more speedily? Now that the rum ration has been stopped, why not soak the respirator in beer? We think this would go a long way to solve this knotty problem."

Felt Overpaid.

"Miserly offered the man who saved his life half a dollar." "Did the man accept it?" "Yes, but he handed Miserly 20 cents change."—Boston Transcript.

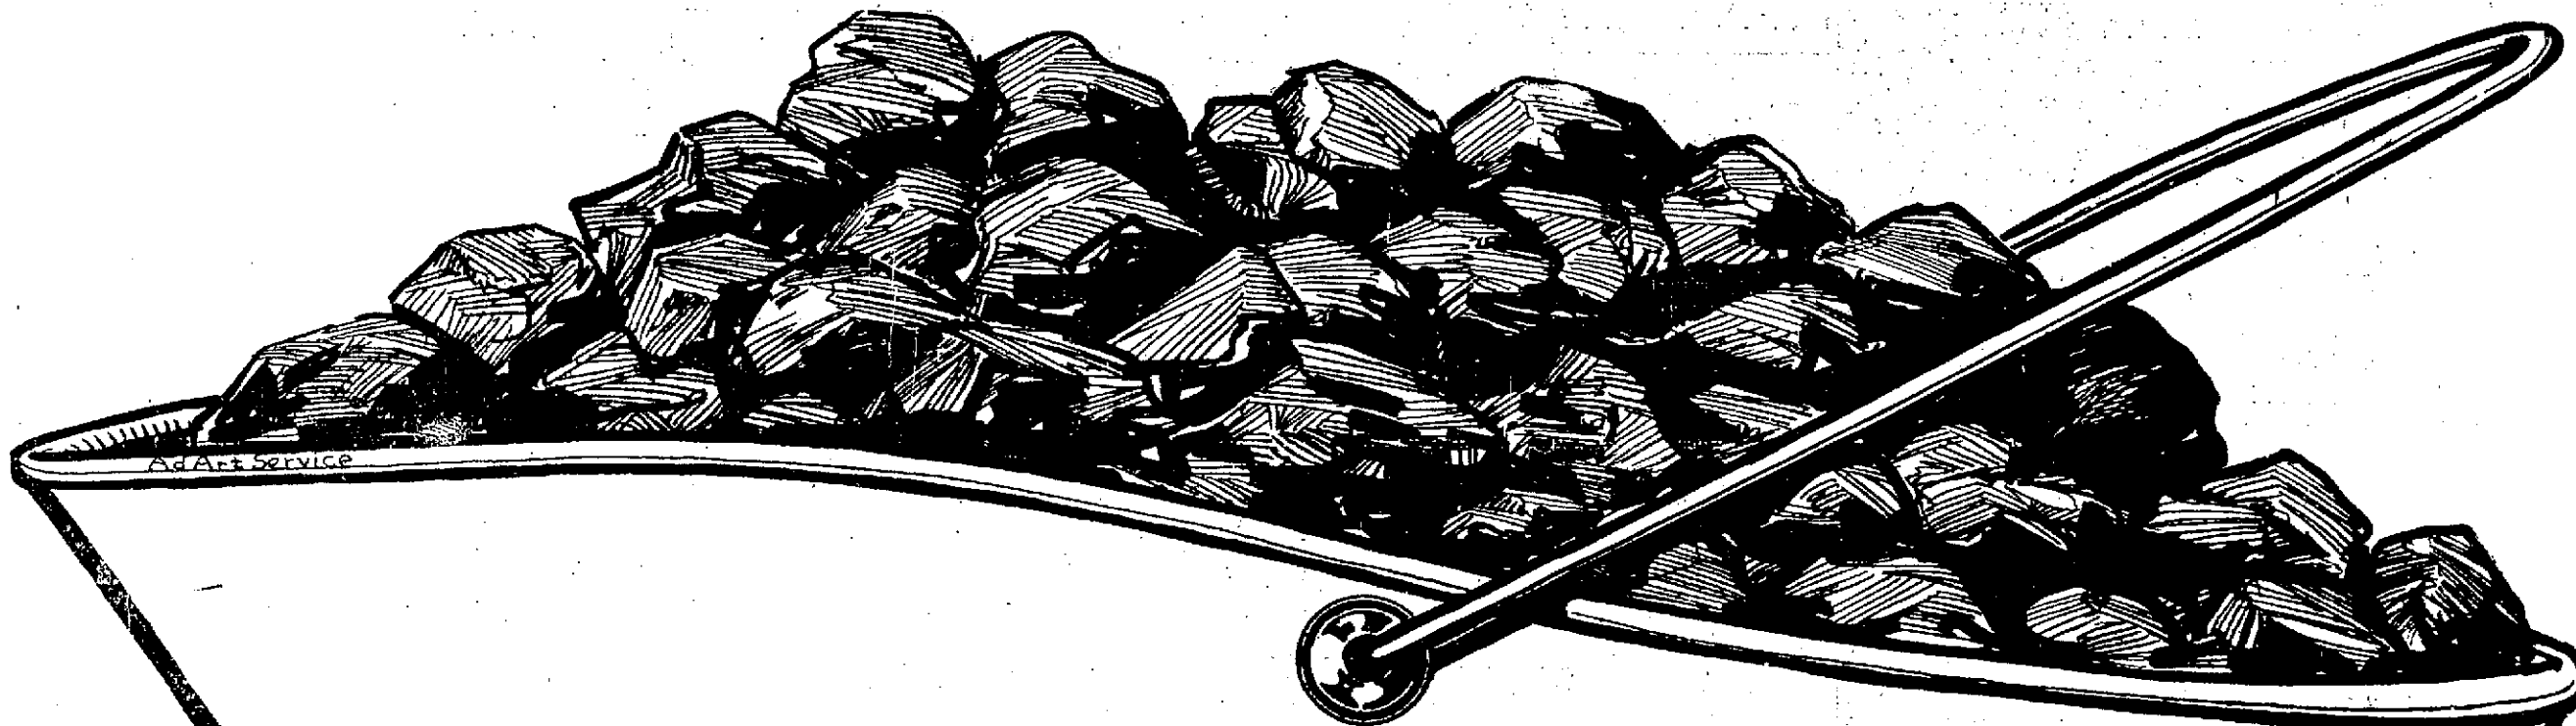

MANY OF SOLDIERS CONFINED IN PRISON SEEK WOMEN LAWYERS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Paris, June 26.—Many of the soldiers confined at the Cherche-Midi prison awaiting court martial for infringement of regulations ask to be defended by women lawyers. On the contrary, the women at Saint Lazare awaiting trial generally ask the head of the order of advocates for a man to defend them.

NOT FOR MEN ONLY.

Foley Cathartic Tablets are not as insistently demanded by women as by men because this particular cathartic is not so well known among women. Women suffer as much as men do from indigestion and constipation, and they also require this scientific remedy to keep the stomach sweet, the liver active and the bowels regular. Foley Cathartic Tablets are wholesome and thoroughly cleansing; do not grip or cause nausea. Stout people say this is the one cathartic that takes away that over-full and clogged-up feeling. W. T. Sherer.

IT'S HIGH TIME TO PURCHASE YOUR WINTER COAL

You Can Buy It Now at Spring and Summer Prices

The fall rush of coal orders will soon be on. Now is the time to lay in your winter's supply of fuel, particularly when you can buy it at summer prices.

Deep Vein Pittston

will certainly please you. It is sold under a guarantee of perfect satisfaction. The guarantee certificate safeguards your coal buying.

Deep Vein Pittston is unconditionally guaranteed to be perfect in heat giving qualities. It is unconditionally guaranteed to be full weight and as represented. It means maximum heat at minimum cost.

Can You Think of a Fairer Coal Deal Than This?
You Can't Possibly Lose for YOU ARE THE JUDGE

Consumer's Pure Ice & Fuel Co.

Pure Lake Ice
N. River & Ravine Sts. C. B. Farnum, Sec'y and Mgr.
Both Phones 407.

READ IT

GUARANTEE: We unreservedly guarantee our "PITTS-ON" Hard Coal, delivered on ticket No.—to be full weight, exceptionally high in heat units and free of impurities. If it is not entirely satisfactory in every way, no matter what the cause, we will replace it, or, if desired will remove it free of expense to you, and refund the amount paid without argument. Simply notify us in writing within ten days of date of delivery. We intend to make every buyer of "PITTS-ON" Coal a permanent customer.

Consumer's
Pure Ice & Fuel Company
Both Phones 407.
Janesville, Wis.

Consumer's Company Gives Unreserved Guarantee With Each Ton of Coal They Sell

THE GUARANTEE TICKET WITH EACH TON OF CONSUMER'S COAL MEANS THE ELIMINATION OF COAL TROUBLES, THE ASSURANCE OF HIGHEST EFFICIENCY AND ABSOLUTE SATISFACTION.

Now the time has come in Janesville when it is possible to obtain the highest grade of coal mined, right now at summer prices, and sold under a guarantee which makes the purchaser the absolute judge as to whether the guarantee is worth while. This certificate of guarantee means so much to the average coal user that it is not believed any coal user will intentionally disregard it. The object The Consumer's Company has in mind is to make coal users familiar with their guarantee and how much it means to them. This guaranty means that coal buyers can now buy on certainty—not on faith. Without it is obvious that coal buying must necessarily be speculative.

Clean Coal

Have you ever thought about the difference between thoroughly screened coal and the make-believe kind? The best place to trace it is through your pocketbook. When the famous Deep Vein Pittston Coal is well screened the result is satisfaction and economy. Being clean it makes a hot fire and few ashes.

It was impossible to improve the coal so The Consumer's Company set about improving the service. At the first the main idea of a coal yard was storage, but now the idea is rapid handling with decreased breakage, or in other words economy. Here the storage and economy ideas are worked out in the same building. Every piece of coal is automatically screened and is delivered as nice, clean coal, free from dirt, slate or clinkers.

Buying Coal Now

Carrying coal over until next winter may seem unnecessary. But it'll be a wise move to do it just the same. Coal is cheaper now than at any time during the year. The saving will amount to considerable on your winter's supply.

Deep Vein Pittston.

This famous Deep Vein Pittston Coal possesses the quality of giving out a great degree of heat in proportion to the quantity used than any other fuel yet discovered. In this respect there is no coal yet mined that is so economical and satisfactory. There is a reason for this, the almost entire absence of impurities, and non-heat producing matter.

Maple Clippings.

This makes an ideal fuel for cool mornings and evenings, when one wants a quick, hot fire. Their cost is small and you'll be well pleased with the excellent results you'll obtain from this kind of fuel.

Pine Slabs.

Pine slabs is another kind of fuel that many people use and like. It fires quickly and burns fiercely, makes an ideal fuel for ranges and cooking purposes.

Vulcan Coke

Many families use coke for fuel and find it very satisfactory. Some mix it with their coal and get a medium priced fuel that gives a hot and lasting fire. The Consumer's company have arranged to supply their patrons with Vulcan Coke because this coke is the best possible quality. The percentage of quality in Vulcan Coke is very small. In many other grades of coke it is the biggest item to contend with.

The Delivery System

The Consumer's Company have arranged a splendid delivery service. There will be no long waits or annoying delays. Every ton of coal or other fuel will be delivered just when it is promised. There are plenty of men and plenty of wagons no insure that this service will be kept up to the same uniformly excellent standard the season through. The wagons of the company are all painted yellow and may be easily distinguished on the street.

The Growth of the Business.

Since its inception into the Janesville field in April The Consumer's Company has enjoyed a steady and satisfying growth. The unusually good service rendered by this new company has appealed to the public and that appreciation is being evidenced daily by the amount of business this new company is doing.